JURY DECIDES YOUTH'S DEATH "ACCIDENTAL"

The death of Absalom Albert, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Edna Albert, York Springs R. 2, resulted from a "mechanical failure of the left front wheel of a car driven by Floyd N. Stevens, also of York Springs R. D.,—the accident was unavoidable," a coroner's jury decided Wednesday afternoon at the conclusion of an inquest held at the court house.

Albert died at the Warner hospital January 10, from a depressed fracture of the skull caused when he was thrown from the Stevens car when it overturned near York Springs on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road, January 9.

Stevens, who is 16, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens, told of passing a car driven by William H. Dubel, Harrisburg, and of finding his front wheel was locked when he attempted to turn back into the right lane of the road. A second later, he said, the car overturned on the highway. Dubel, he said, had been driving at a slow rate of speed before the attempted pass.

Three Badly Hurt

The Harrisburg man told the jury he had been driving at about 15 miles an hour because of a defective bearing in his car when the Stevens car passed him. Stevens, Dubel stated, was driving about 35 miles an hour when he passed. The Stevens car had just started to turn back into its own lane when it overturned, he said.

Pvt. George Ackerson, of the local state police, in his testimony before the jury, said that the distance the car had rolled indicated that it had not been going at an excessive rate of speed before it overturned.

Dubel and Private Ackerson both said Stevens, Albert and Roy Starner, 17, son of Roy W. Starner, York Springs R. D., the three youths in the car, were thrown out of the vehicle when it overturned. Dr. Bruce Wolff testified that all three suffered fractures of the skull as a result of the accident, with Albert having the most serious fracture. Albert, Doctor Wolff said, never regained consciousness. Starner was in the hospital 28 days while Stevens spent seven days in the hospital and then was returned to his home with instructions to remain in bed for four weeks.

Mechanic Testifies

Starner told the jury he could not remember anything about how the accident occurred or anything that had happened after the trio left Heidlersburg enroute for York Springs.

Merle Miller, mechanic at a York Springs garage, who inspected the Stevens car following the accident, said the left front wheel was so badly "frozen" that the rim had torn loose from the wheel. A bent spindle had caught in the roller bearings causing the wheel to lock, he said. The wheel was properly greased and everything else seemed in good shape, he said. The spindle, he asserted, could have been bent either in the accident or it could have been bent by the jolt caused in driving over a bump in the road or by bumping a sidewalk in parking.

The jury included Henry T. Bream, Calvin Shank, James Pierce, Harry Baumga, Guy Mickle and G. H. Roth.

SCOUTS' BOND RECORD HIGH

Pledges for war bonds valued at $14,400 were secured by Boy Scouts of the Black Walnut district during the week ending Tuesday. It was announced today by Dr. Frederick Tilberg, president of the district.

While the reports are incomplete for at least two troops, it is not expected that the amount of pledges will go much over $14,500.

Doctor Tilberg said he is well pleased with the showing made by the scouts of the district during the "Scouts as Gleaners" campaign in which the boys, starting after the majority of the Fourth War Loan drive was over, knocked on doors of homes in their sections to urge families to "buy one more bond."

Top-ranking troop in the pledge campaign was the Cashtown contingent headed by Scoutmaster J. W. Stevenson. The boys in that troop secured 145 pledges for bonds valued at $7,425. John W. Bream, Jr., led the Cashtown troop and the district with 72 pledges for bonds valued at $1,800.

SELL FARM

Forest I. Bream and wife, of Tyronetownship, have sold a 72-acre farm in Tyronetownship to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kieglinger, Cumberland township. The transfer was made by John C. Bream.

This Week Only! Group of all-wood swaters, dresses and handbags at half price. Helen-Kay Shop, Chambersburg St.

Planning Annual Fruitmen's Meeting

Frederic E. Griest, president of the Adams County Horticultural society, announced today that arrangements are being rapidly completed for the annual all-day fruit growers' meeting to be held Saturday, February 26, at the Biglerville auditorium, starting at 9:30 a. m.

Morning and afternoon sessions will be held. Included in the discussions will be problems of orchard management, a proposed fruit spray schedule and discussion of the local and national fruit outlook.

TIRE THEFTS HERE LINKED BY CITY CLEW

The finding of two tires Tuesday afternoon on the Paul Stahl farm along the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road, apparently links the robbery of tires from Dale's Tire Service station and the Reel Tire station here with a gang of tire thieves operating in Harrisburg, state police said today.

The two tires and wheel were found in the Stahl field about a mile north of the Dale tire shop on the Harrisburg road the day following the robbery at the Dale service station which followed by a week a similar robbery at the Reel station.

Pvt. Harold Trout and Robert Deatrich, investigating the two local robberies, said today that the two tires were stolen from an automobile owned by a Harrisburg man, taken on Sixth street in Harrisburg. The car was driven four miles north of Harrisburg and all four wheels and tires were removed.

Kept Better Tires
The local policemen surmised that the truck in which the thieves were traveling was overloaded and that the two tires and wheel were thrown out into the field in order to make room for the recapped tires stolen from the Dale's tire shop which were in better condition than the ones removed from the Harrisburg car.

The latest robbery here occurred either Sunday night or Monday morning when nine tires, a loaded revolver, a table radio and $1 in change were stolen from the Dale tire service along the Harrisburg road. Total value of the stolen articles was estimated at $163.

On February 7, 16 tires were stolen from the Reel's tire shop on Buford avenue. They were valued at $300. Police believe both robberies were executed by the same group.

NEED GROWS FOR LODGING HOUSES

Swamped with inquiries for furnished rooms and apartments, the Chamber of Commerce secretary, Mrs. Robert P. Snyder, appealed to local lodging house keepers and other townspeople who have one or more rooms they are willing to rent to notify the Chamber office promptly by telephone.

A comparatively small number of lodging houses responded to last week's request for registrations, Mrs. Snyder said, and consequently only a limited number of placements could be made.

The C. of C. has a year-old list of local lodging houses but is eager to bring it up to date as quickly as possible. Calls to houses on the old list have shown in many instances that no rooms now are available, Mrs. Snyder said.

Mrs. Frederic E. Griest, canteen chairman for the local USO announced that she has had many requests to secure rooms for the families of servicemen who are visiting their sons here, and she urges that lodging house owners notify the Chamber of Commerce office of facilities they have available in order that the USO may refer to that file when needed.

Extend "Y" Drive To Feb. 29; Top $1,000

With the announcement today that the annual financial drive of the Gettysburg YWCA, which opened February 1, has been extended through February 29, it was disclosed that the campaign already has passed the $1,000 mark. The goal is $2,500.

February 15 originally was set as the closing date for the canvass but solicitors were not able to complete the solicitation in many areas of the town and county by that time and the extension to the end of the month was decided upon.

Mrs. Donald P. McPherson, Jr., chairman of the finance committee, which is conducting the drive, asked the solicitors today to complete their canvass at the earliest possible date. Contributions also are being received directly at the "Y" office, center square.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS, COLLEGE FACULTY MEET

Possible establishment of a two- or three-year study on problems of consolidation, curriculum revision and adult education was discussed Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Council of Public School administration with members of the faculty of Gettysburg college at the SCA building.

In-service training of teachers, methods of making Gettysburg college a community "education" center and a "people's college," individual guidance of students and related curriculum programs for teachers in the public schools and college were among the matters discussed by the educators at a meeting on the general subject of "How Can a Mutually Advantageous Relationship Be Made between Gettysburg College and the Secondary Schools of Adams County?" The discussion was begun by the reading of an informal paper on the subject by Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school.

"Recognizing that in Adams county the program for elementary grades through college is not functioning as a unit," as one of the educators expressed it, "meetings are being held to furnish a greater degree of integration in the whole broad program of education in the county."

Urges Wider Interests
The public school educators pointed out that the youth problem should be of as much concern to the college as to the public school administrators and that the college should be interested in farmers, fruit growers and mechanics because "they form the background of the community."

The public school men also sought the aid of the college faculty members in solving the problems involved in following out the recent state law requiring teaching of American history in the county schools. Also discussed were the problems of training for critical thinking in the colleges and schools arising from the present emphasis on military education and indoctrination.

Plans for a series of related curriculum programs, in which teachers of various subjects in the county schools will meet with teachers of the same subjects in college, were discussed.

Seek Related Curricula
From the series of meetings between the college faculty and school administrators the group plans to develop a related curriculum program in which the college education will be the natural completion of the courses started in the lower grades of the schools. Possibility of individual guidance, by means of files kept on the progress and abilities of students from first grade through college was outlined as were plans for giving further instruction to teachers during the regular school year. Plans were also discussed for studying current social, economic and political problems in college and in adult classes.

Leslie V. Stock attended as president of the county administrators' group. Dean W. E. Tilberg headed the college faculty group and welcomed the administrators to the meeting. The 20 present voted to continue the discussions with another meeting next month with the date and topic for the meeting to be determined by an executive committee comprising Mr. Stock, Charles R. Wolfe, C. E. Bilheimer, Mr. Lefever and Dr. Robert A. Bream.

Cleason Shealer Given New Post

Cleason E. Shealer, son of Mrs. Cora M. Shealer, Baltimore street, who has completed nearly 15 years of service with Pan American Airways, Brownsville, Texas, as base shop superintendent, will assume similar duties March 1 of the Atlantic Division, New York city.

With the exception of special assignments, Shealer has been on continuous duty with PAA in Brownsville since June 1, 1929. For the first few years of his association, he acted as mechanic and copilot. At that time only one hangar and a few tri-motored aircraft were in use at the base.

Shealer entered the Army air service in 1917 and has been employed in aircraft work ever since. He acted in the capacity of pilot and instructor during World War I.

After the war he worked as a pilot and mechanic in Oklahoma, did mechanical work and barnstorming at Duncan Field and then joined PAA at Brownsville.

DR. SHAULIS RESIGNS

Dr. Nelson Shaulis has resigned his position as agronomist at the Pennsylvania State college research laboratory at Ardenstville in order to accept a position at the New York State Experiment station at Geneva, New York. Dr. and Mrs. Shaulis expects to leave about March 1.

Ira Y. Baker Is Named Principal

Ira Y. Baker, of Gettysburg, has been elected supervising principal of Manchester high school, York county, to succeed C. H. Royer, who has served in that capacity for a number of years and who resigned recently to accept an agency with a life insurance company. Mr. Baker will begin his duties March 1.

He attended Shippensburg State Teachers' college and Gettysburg college and taught school in the elementary grades in Adams county and Catasauqua, Lehigh county, and was county superintendent of Adams county from 1937 to 1942.

Here And There News Collected At Random

The following article by Tom O'Reilly was recently reprinted in the "Students' Weekly" at Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster:

"Don Cragin came from Camden, N. J., and was Captain of the Franklin and Marshall football team in 1922.

"In those days the big game, down home, was always on Thanksgiving Day, between F.&M. and Gettysburg. It drew about 10,000 enthusiastic Pennsylvania Dutchmen. That year, I remember, both teams were undefeated and had great drop-kickers. Gettysburg's ace was a bow-legged Dutchman named Bream . . . F.&M. had Sammy Yohn, who kicked so many points after touch-down at Lancaster High (I think it was 69) that he appeared in one of Ripley's earliest Believe-It-Or-Not cartoons.

"Neither F.&M. or Gettysburg could advance beyond each other's 15-yard line. So in the first quarter Bream drop-kicked a field-goal. In the second, Yohn tied it up again. In the third—Bream drop-kicked another. In the fourth, Yohn tied it up again. On the very last play of the game (the whistle sounded as the ball flew back from the center) Cragin was given the leather on the 50-yard line. The signals called for a punt. But the game was over, he had nothing to lose, so he tried the first drop-kick of his career. He made it."

When asked if the above yarn was correct Henry T. Bream, former Bullet triple-threat and now Head Coach of the Orange and Blue, said:

"Yes, indeed. That's right. Cragin booted that one, the only one in his life, from the 52-yard line. He's a fine fellow and we often talk about that drop-kick. He's a football official now."

Guy F. Allen "signs" more checks for more money than any other person in the world. In 1942, his signature, as the Treasury's Chief Disbursing Officer, appeared on about 65,000,000 checks for a total of $9,225,000,000, says Berton Bralley in Nation's Business.

To print that many checks takes 6,500 pounds of ink and 112 tons of paper.

If Mr. Allen had to sign all his checks by hand, he would soon fall behind. At the rate of (Please Turn to Page 2)

HARTMAN PLANS POULTRY MEETS

How to make limited supplies of feed and labor produce the maximum results in poultry raising will be discussed at a series of three meetings to be held next week, M. T. Hartman, county farm agent announced today.

The urgent demand for large supplies of poultry and eggs in view of the limited feed situation makes it especially important that poultrymen carefully plan their operations so as to conserve feed, obtain maximum results and avoid unnecessary losses. Mr. Hartman said in announcing the schedule for the meetings at which C. O. Dossin, poultry extension expert from State College, will be in charge of the discussion.

The first in the series will be held Monday at 8 p. m. on the farm of George Roscoe Worley, Hanover R. D. The second and third are scheduled for Tuesday, with the first meeting at the farm of Roy Heckenluber, near Ardenstville, at 10 a. m. and the second that day at the farm of J. Willis Weigle, Gardners R. D. at 2 p. m.

BUILDING LINES

Rights of way over the properties of Ethel and Herbert L. Shriver, Oxford township, and Kenneth and Edna Sowers, Huntington township, for the lines of the Metropolitan Edison company have been filed at the court house.

ELGIN APPEALS FOR "ALL-OUT" PAPER CAMPAIGN

Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, Chairman of the Adams County Salvage Committee, has issued an appeal to all captains of fire companies in the county to wage an intensive campaign for waste paper during the Salvage Drive Campaign February 19, 20, 21 and 22. He recently addressed a special communication to the captains in which he said, in part, as follows:

"Will you call a special meeting of your fire company or your local committee to make plans for the collection of all kinds of paper on the above mentioned dates.

"County Superintendent of Schools Floyd Slaybaugh is addressing a letter to all school teachers enlisting their support in the campaign. You may be able to collect some waste paper through these sources.

Seek Ministers' Support

"We hope to have you and your committee as well as your local committee, Boy Scouts, 4-H clubs and others cooperate in the campaign.

"At the conclusion of the drive will you please advise me of the amount of paper you have collected in order that I might report Adams county's total to the War Production Board? Your company will get credit for the number of pounds turned in.

"Kindly inform the ministers in your district and request that they make an announcement of the drive from their pulpits."

The need for waste paper is extremely urgent, Dr. Elgin said, and Pennsylvania is making an intensive campaign to collect all the available paper possible before March 1st.

AUCTIONEERS SEEK DATA ON PRICE CEILINGS

During the past few days many auctioneers in this area have consulted with OPA officials to determine price ceilings on items scheduled to be sold at auction sales.

This sudden auctioneer interest in price information is attributed by OPA to the wide publicity given to the check-up by OPA enforcement men of prices charged for farm machinery at a Lebanon county farm auction sale.

In order to further clarify the price control situation in this area with respect to auction sales, OPA explained that sales transacted through public auction are subject to all price regulations that would normally effect retailer-consumer sales.

Get Price Data
Public auctioneers are urged to take their auction sale list to their local War Price and Rationing Boards where they will be informed as to what goods are covered by price regulations and the top ceiling price that may be charged for each item. In this way, if the auctioneer abides by the Board's listed prices, he will be in strict conformity with the Emergency Price Control Act. Otherwise if he indiscriminately sells goods beyond established ceilings, he, together with the owner, may be proceeded against in both criminal and civil courts, an OPA official said.

OPA price officials said that while public auction sales are fully governed by price ceiling provisions, judicial sales ordered by either a Federal or State Court, for the liquidation of assets, are not subject to OPA ceiling prices. This exemption, however, does not apply to: Sales in the course of trade by a trustee in bankruptcy, receiver, administrator, executor, fiduciary or other officer of a court, engaged in continuing a business under a court order; Sheriff's sales, constables' or bailiffs' sales, marshals' sales and other sales or auctions held under writ; Sales by governmental bodies or agencies, held pursuant to statute or ordinance.

Arrive Overseas

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosensteel, Gettysburg, have received word their son, Pfc. Charles R. Rosensteel, has arrived safely in England.

Sgt. Donald O. Price, son of Mrs. Helen D. Price, Baltimore street, has arrived safely in Brazil according to word received here.

CLINIC ON MONDAY

The regular tuberculosis clinic scheduled to be held at the Warner hospital on Tuesday has been changed to Monday next week on account of the holiday, Tuesday, it was announced by Miss Mildred Eder, state nurse.

WED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. W. Grant Mason, Pleasant street, New Oxford, observed their golden wedding anniversary Monday. In celebration of the occasion a dinner was served Sunday at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ofa White, Gettysburg R. 5. They were the recipients of gifts of money, flowers and many cards of congratulation.

Allies Holding Off Second All-Out Nazi Thrust On Beachhead

By EDWARD KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Naples, Feb. 17 (AP)—A fierce battle has broken the lull on the beachhead south of Rome with the Germans launching heavy attacks in the northern sector, but all evidence today indicated the Allied forces were holding against continuing enemy thrusts.

An announcement at headquarters said the Germans struck yesterday morning after a heavy artillery preparation. Both sides threw tanks into the heavy fighting.

The Americans and British were said to be grimly holding to their positions in the face of tremendous pressure.

Meet Air Attack "Blow For Blow"

It was the second all-out German attempt to smash the Allied beachhead. The enemy was said to be throwing his full force of infantry, tanks and artillery into the struggle which was hourly increasing in violence.

Enemy aircraft swung into the battle in unusual force, some 130 sorties attacking objectives in the battle zone. But the Allied air forces met the air attack, blow for blow, shooting down nine of the attackers and blasting targets in the fighting area.

FORMER COUNTY MAN "MISSING"

Sergeant James Hall Marshall, 21, a native of Adams county, has been reported as "missing in action" since January 30.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall, York, formerly of near Fairfield, received a telegram Wednesday from the War department revealing Sgt. Marshall, a tail gunner on a B-17, is missing in action over France. He had flown on 15 missions over occupied Europe.

Sgt. Marshall entered the service nearly three years ago and has been overseas about one year. He is a graduate of York high school.

A number of years ago the Marshall family moved from their farm just west of Fairfield to Waynesboro and later moved to York.

A sister, Mary Marshall, is a lieutenant in the U. S. Army Nurses' Corps and is stationed in the Hawaiian Islands.

The missing flyer is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stoops, Gettysburg R. 2.

DELEGATES FOR COUNCIL LISTED

Delegates to represent the Auxiliary of the Albert J. Lentz post No. 202 of the American Legion at the regular meeting of the four-county council of the auxiliary to be held here March 2 were named by Mrs. Howard Hartzell, local president, at a meeting of the local auxiliary, Tuesday evening at the Legion home.

The delegates are Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner, Mrs. Paul Spangler, Mrs. Frank Deardorff, Mrs. Gervus Myers, Mrs. Harry Lower and Mrs. Erle R. Deardorff.

The local group voted to buy 4,000 "buddy" poppies for sale here on Memorial day and during the week preceding that holiday. A contribution of $2.50 was voted to the YWCA. Mrs. Spangler, child welfare chairman, and Mrs. Ella Slonaker, legislative chairman, presented reports.

Mrs. Harry Lower was placed in charge of the social committee for the next meeting.

The business meeting followed a covered dish luncheon which was held at 6:30 o'clock with about 30 members in attendance. An entertainment program included flute solos by Miss Lena Hartzell, accompanied by Ross Forcey, and a recitation, "Buying Bonds," by Eugenia Haechnen.

Property Transfers

John H. and Maggie C. Shambrook, Straban township, sold to Luther and M. Naomi Decker, same place, a three-acre property at New Chester.

David C. and Marie W. Bloom, Littleton, sold to Willard and Helen C. Ketterman, Mt. Pleasant township, a three-acre property in Germany township.

Harold L. and Eliza M. Myers, Gettysburg, sold to the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel, Los Angeles, California, a lot on West Middle street.

Edward H. and Bessie A. Mathias, Littleton, sold to Oliver M. and Maud R. Mathias, same place, three properties containing 185 acres partly in Union township and partly in Carroll county Maryland.

Butter Cassino Fighting

The beachhead fighting far eclipsed that in strategic Cassino where, however, American forces still were bitterly contesting the Nazi strangle hold house by house. RAF and Australian Kittyhawks again bombed the ruins of the Monte Cassino monastery. American planes hit German positions elsewhere on Abbey Hill.

In a day of extensive and wide ranging air activity, Allied bombers, large and small, and fighters flew approximately 1,200 sorties. The enemy railway yards in Rome were hit for the second straight day and heavy and medium bombers attacked communications at many points north of the Italian capital. Four Allied planes were lost.

The sweeping air offensive covered 15 main and secondary rail lines around Rome.

Nazi Tanks In Support

After the long and concentrated German artillery barrage yesterday morning, the first enemy shock troops struck in the first phases of the new Beachhead attack with tanks in support. The Allied armor immediately went into action against them.

The Germans kept coming in wave after wave throughout yesterday and last night.

The enemy attack came in the Carroceto (Aprilia) area, 10 miles due north of the port of Anzio. Much of the previous heavy fighting has taken place in that sector and various vantage points there have changed hands several times. Carroceto itself was in German hands at latest report.

"No Dunkerque Here"

The Germans opened the new offensive after apparently recovering from losses suffered in the first major effort to drive American and British troops into the sea, but during the lull the Allies also had built up new strength and were ready for and expecting the assault.

In a statement released yesterday, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Commander in Chief of Allied forces in Italy, declared that the Americans and British were winning the second round of the bridgehead battle and ultimately would smash to Rome without assistance from the Cassino front.

"There is absolutely no Dunkerque here—there's no basis for pessimistic rubbish," he told his troops.

Hill Pillboxes Founded

On the lower Fifth Army front Allied artillery laid many shells during the day among German traffic on highway 6 leading out of Cassino and two miles westward Allied troops engaged the enemy in a sharp clash on Albaneta Ridge.

While the Monte Cassino monastery has been reduced to ruins the Germans are holding out in a network of strong pillboxes around it and this has apparently prevented ground troops from occupying the crest of Abbey Hill.

In Cassino itself the fighting was less intense than on previous days.

Two Couples Are Licensed To Wed

Marriage licenses were issued at the court house today to:

Leroy Henry Messenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley E. Messenger, Hanover R. 1, and Ruth Alice Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Weaver, Hanover R. 4.

John William Heise, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heise, Baltimore, and Ethel Grace Sanders, Baltimore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sanders, Fairfield.

The C. of C. has a year-old list of local lodging houses but is eager to bring it up to date as quickly as possible. Calls to houses on the old list have shown in many instances that no rooms now are available. Mrs. Snyder said.

Mrs. Frederic E. Griest, canteen chairman for the local USO announced that she has had many requests to secure rooms for the families of servicemen who are visiting their sons here, and she urges that lodging house owners notify the Chamber of Commerce office of facilities they have available in order that the USO may refer to that file when needed.

Extend "Y" Drive To Feb. 29; Top $1,000

With the announcement today that the annual financial drive of the Gettysburg YWCA, which opened February 1, has been extended through February 29, it was disclosed that the campaign already has passed the $1,000 mark. The goal is $2,500.

February 15 originally was set as the closing date for the canvass but solicitors were not able to complete the solicitation in many areas of the town and county by that time and the extension to the end of the month was decided upon.

Mrs. Donald P. McPherson, Jr., chairman of the finance committee, which is conducting the drive, asked the solicitors today to complete their canvass at the earliest possible date. Contributions also are being received directly at the "Y" office, center square.

COUNTY SCHOOL HEADS, COLLEGE FACULTY MEET

Possible establishment of a two- or three-year study on problems of consolidation, curriculum revision and adult education was discussed Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Adams County Council of Public School administration with members of the faculty of Gettysburg college at the SCA building.

In-service training of teachers, methods of making Gettysburg college a community "education" center and a "people's college," individual guidance of students and related curriculum programs for teachers in the public schools and college were among the matters discussed by the educators at a meeting on the general subject of "How Can a Mutually Advantageous Relationship Be Made between Gettysburg College and the Secondary Schools of Adams County." The discussion was begun by the reading of an informal paper on the subject by Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school.

"Recognizing that in Adams county the program for elementary grades through college is not functioning as a unit," as one of the educators expressed it, "meetings are being held to furnish a greater degree of integration in the whole broad program of education in the county."

Urge Wider Interests

The public school educators pointed out that the youth problem should be of as much concern to the college as to the public school administrators and that the college should be interested in farmers, fruit growers and mechanics because "they form the background of the community."

The public school men also sought the aid of the college faculty members in solving the problems involved in following out the recent state law requiring teaching of American history in the county schools. Also discussed were the problems of training for critical thinking in the colleges and schools arising from the present emphasis on military education and indoctrination.

Plans for a series of related curriculum programs, in which teachers of various subjects in the county schools will meet with teachers of the same subjects in college, were discussed.

Seek Related Curricula

From the series of meetings between the college faculty and school administrators the group plans to develop a related curriculum program in which the college education will be the natural completion of the courses started in the lower grades of the schools. Possibility of individual guidance, by means of files kept on the progress and abilities of students from first grade through college was outlined as were plans for giving further instruction to teachers during the regular school year. Plans were also discussed for studying current social, economic and political problems in college and in adult classes.

Leslie V. Stock attended as president of the county administrators' group. Dean W. E. Tilberg headed the college faculty group and welcomed the administrators to the meeting. The 20 present voted to continue the discussions with an annual meeting next month with the date and topic for the meeting to be determined by an executive committee comprising Mr. Stock, Charles R. Wolfe, C. E. Bilheimer, Mr. Lefever and Dr. Robert A. Bream.

Cleason Shealer Given New Post

Cleason E. Shealer, son of Mrs. Cora M. Shealer, Baltimore street, who has completed nearly 15 years of service with Pan American Airways, Brownsville, Texas, as base shop superintendent, will assume similar duties March 1 of the Atlantic Division, New York city.

With the exception of special assignments, Shealer has been on continuous duty with PAA in Brownsville since June 1, 1929. For the first few years of his association, he acted as mechanic and copilot. At that time only one hangar and a few tri-motored aircraft were in use at the base.

Shealer entered the Army air service in 1917 and has been employed in aircraft work ever since. He acted in the capacity of pilot and instructor during World War I.

After the war he worked as a pilot and mechanic in Oklahoma, did mechanical work and barnstorming at Duncan Field and then joined PAA at Brownsville.

DR. SHAULIS RESIGNS

Dr. Nelson Shaulis has resigned his position as agronomist at the Pennsylvania State college research laboratory at Arendtsville in order to accept a position at the New York State Experiment station at Geneva, New York. Dr. and Mrs. Shaulis expects to leave about March 1.

Ira Y. Baker Is Named Principal

Ira Y. Baker, of Gettysburg, has been elected supervising principal of Manchester high school, York county, to succeed C. H. Royer, who has served in that capacity for a number of years and who resigned recently to accept an agency with a life insurance company. Mr. Baker will begin his duties March 1.

He attended Shippensburg State Teachers' college and Gettysburg college and taught school in the elementary grades in Adams county and Cataqua, Lehigh county, and was county superintendent of Adams county from 1937 to 1942.

Here And There News Collected At Random

The following article by Tom O'Reilly was recently reprinted in the "Students' Weekly" at Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster:

"Don Cragin came from Camden, N. J., and was Captain of the Franklin and Marshall football team in 1922.

"In those days the big game, down home, was always on Thanksgiving Day, between F.&M. and Gettysburg. It drew about 10,000 enthusiastic Pennsylvania Dutchmen. That year, I remember, both teams were undefeated and had great drop-kickers. Gettysburg's ace was a bow-legged Dutchman named Bream. . . . F.&M. had Sammy Yohn, who kicked so many points after touch-down at Lancaster High (I think it was 69) that he appeared in one of Ripley's earliest Believe-It-Or-Not cartoons.

"Neither F.&M. or Gettysburg could advance beyond each other's 15-yard line. So in the first quarter Bream drop-kicked a field-goal. In the second, Yohn tied it up again. In the third Bream drop-kicked another. In the fourth, Yohn tied it up again. On the very last play of the game (the whistle sounded as the ball flew back from the center) Cragin was given the leather on the 50-yard line. The signals called for a punt. But the game was over, he had nothing to lose, so he tried the first drop-kick of his career. He made it."

When asked if the above yarn was correct Henry T. Bream, former Bullet triple-thearer and now Head Coach of the Orange and Blue, said:

"Yes, indeed. That's right. Cragin booted that one, the only one in his life, from the 52-yard line. He's a fine fellow and we often talk about that drop-kick. He's a football official now."

Guy F. Allen "signs" more checks for more money than any other person in the world. In 1942, his signature, as the Treasury's Chief Disbursing Officer, appeared on about 65,000,000 checks for a total of $9,225,000,000, says Berton Bralley in Nation's Business.

To print that many checks takes 6,500 pounds of ink and 112 tons of paper.

If Mr. Allen had to sign all his checks by hand, he would soon fall behind. At the rate of (Please Turn to Page 2)

HARTMAN PLANS POULTRY MEETS

How to make limited supplies of feed and labor produce the maximum results in poultry raising will be discussed at a series of three meetings to be held next week. M. T. Hartman, county farm agent announced today.

The urgent demand for large supplies of poultry and eggs in view of the limited feed situation makes it especially important that poultrymen carefully plan their operations so as to conserve feed, obtain maximum results and avoid unnecessary losses. Mr. Hartman said in announcing the schedule for the meetings at which C. O. Dossin, poultry extension expert from State College, will be in charge of the discussion.

The first in the series will be held Monday at 8 p. m. on the farm of George Roscoe Worley, Hanover R. D. The second and third are scheduled for Tuesday, with the first meeting at the farm of Roy Heckenluber, near Arendtsville, at 10 a. m. and the second that day at the farm of J. Willis Weigle, Gardners R. D. at 2 p. m.

ELGIN APPEALS FOR "ALL-OUT" PAPER CAMPAIGN

Dr. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, Chairman of the Adams County Salvage Committee, has issued an appeal to all captains of fire companies in the county to wage an intensive campaign for waste paper during the Salvage Drive Campaign February 19, 20, 21 and 22. He recently addressed a special communication to the captains in which, he said, in part, as follows:

"Will you call a special meeting of your fire company or your local committee to make plans for the collection of all kinds of paper on the above mentioned dates.

"County Superintendent of Schools Floyd Slaybaugh is addressing a letter to all school teachers enlisting their support in the campaign. You may be able to collect some waste paper through these sources.

Seek Ministers' Support

"We hope to have you and your company as well as your local committee, Boy Scouts, 4-H clubs and others cooperate in the campaign.

"At the conclusion of the drive will you please advise me of the amount of paper you have collected in order that I might report Adams county's total to the War Production Board? Your company will get credit for the number of pounds turned in.

"Kindly inform the ministers in your district and request that they make an announcement of the drive from their pulpits."

The need for waste paper is extremely urgent, Dr. Elgin said, and Pennsylvania is making an intensive campaign to collect all the available paper possible before March 1st.

AUCTIONEERS SEEK DATA ON PRICE CEILINGS

During the past few days many auctioneers in this area have consulted with OPA officials to determine price ceilings on items scheduled to be sold at auction sales.

This sudden auctioneer interest in price information is attributed by OPA to the wide publicity given to the check-up by OPA enforcement men of prices charged for farm machinery at a Lebanon county farm auction sale.

In order to further clarify the price control situation in this area with respect to auction sales, OPA explained that sales transacted through public auction are subject to all price regulations that would normally effect retailer-consumer sales.

Get Price Data

Public auctioneers are urged to take their auction sale list to their local War Price and Rationing Boards where they will be informed as to what goods are covered by price regulations and the top ceiling price that may be charged for each item. In this way, if the auctioneer abides by the Board's listed prices, he will be in strict conformity with the Emergency Price Control Act. Otherwise if he indiscriminately sells goods beyond established ceilings, he, together with the owner, may be proceeded against in both criminal and civil courts, an OPA official said.

OPA price officials said that while public auction sales are fully governed by price ceiling provisions, judicial sales ordered by either a Federal or State Court, for the liquidation of assets, are not subject to OPA ceiling prices. This exemption, however, does not apply to: Sales in the course of trade by a trustee in bankruptcy, receiver, administrator, executor, fiduciary or other officer of a court, engaged in continuing a business under a court order; Sheriff's sales, constables' or bailiffs' sales, marshals' sales and other sales or auctions held under writ; Sales by governmental bodies or agencies, held pursuant to statute or ordinance.

Allies Holding Off Second All-Out Nazi Thrust On Beachhead

By EDWARD KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Naples, Feb. 17 (AP)—A fierce battle has broken the lull on the beachhead south of Rome with the Germans launching heavy attacks in the northern sector, but all evidence today indicated the Allied forces were holding against continuing enemy thrusts.

An announcement at headquarters said the Germans struck yesterday morning after a heavy artillery preparation. Both sides threw tanks into the heavy fighting.

The Americans and British were said to be grimly holding to their positions in the face of tremendous pressure.

Meet Air Attack "Blow For Blow"

It was the second all-out German attempt to smash the Allied beachhead. The enemy was said to be throwing his full force of infantry, tanks and artillery into the struggle which was hourly increasing in violence.

Enemy aircraft swung into the battle in unusual force, some 130 sorties attacking objectives in the battle zone. But the Allied air forces met the air attack, blow for blow, shooting down nine of the attackers and blasting targets in the fighting area.

Bitter Cassino Fighting

The beachhead fighting far eclipsed that in strategic Cassino where, however, American forces still were bitterly contesting the Nazi strangle hold house by house. RAF and Australian Kittyhawks again bombed the ruins of the Monte Cassino monastery. American planes hit German positions elsewhere on Abbey hill.

In a day of extensive and wide ranging air activity, Allied bombers, large and small, and fighters flew approximately 1,200 sorties. The enemy railway yards in Rome were hit for the second straight day and heavy and medium bombers attacked communications at many points north of the Italian capital. Four Allied planes were lost.

The sweeping air offensive covered 15 main and secondary rail lines around Rome.

Nazi Tanks In Support

After the long and concentrated German artillery barrage yesterday morning, the first enemy shock troops struck in the first phases of the new beachhead attack with tanks in support. The Allied armor immediately went into action against them.

The Germans kept coming in wave after wave throughout yesterday and last night.

The enemy attack came in the Carroceto (Aprilia) area, 10 miles due north of the port of Anzio. Much of the previous heavy fighting has taken place in that sector and various vantage points there have changed hands several times. Carroceto itself was in German hands at latest report.

"No Dunkerque Here"

The Germans opened the new offensive after apparently recovering from losses suffered in the first major effort to drive American and British troops into the sea, but during the lull the Allies also had built up new strength and were ready for and expecting the assault.

In a statement released yesterday, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Commander in Chief of Allied forces in Italy, declared that the Americans and British were winning the second round of the bridgehead battle and ultimately would smash to Rome without assistance from the Cassino front.

"There is absolutely no Dunkerque here—there's no basis for pessimistic rubbish," he told his troops.

On the lower Fifth Army front Allied artillery laid many shells during the day among German traffic on highway 6 leading out of Cassino and two miles westward Allied troops engaged the enemy in a sharp clash on Albaneta Ridge.

While the Monte Cassino monastery has been reduced to ruins the Germans are holding out in a network of strong pillboxes around it and this has apparently prevented ground troops from occupying the crest of Abbey Hill.

In Cassino itself the fighting was less intense than on previous days.

They were the recipients of gifts of money, flowers and many cards of congratulation.

DARING RESCUE BY NAVY PLANE SAVES 15 FLIERS UNDER JAP GUNS

(Editor's Note: Gen. Douglas MacArthur gave official recognition today in his southwest Pacific communique to the daring feat of a Navy Catalina plane which landed under the very muzzles of Japanese shore batteries at Kavieng, New Ireland, to pick up downed American fliers. Here is the gripping story of that exploit.)

By OLEN CLEMENTS
(Associated Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in New Guinea, Feb. 17—The Navy Catalina, "Arkansas Traveler," weathered still fire from shore batteries of the Japanese at Kavieng, New Ireland, Tuesday—also 15-foot swells on the water that burst some of her rivets—to make the most spectacular rescue of downed American airmen of the southwest Pacific war.

Members of that crew, led by Lt. (j.g.) Nathan G. Gordon, 27, of Morrilton, Arkansas, a former end on the University of Arkansas football team, told today of rescuing 15 fliers. That entailed making four landings in the face of shore gun-fire.

The rescue came during the height of a massive air strike by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Mitchells on Kavieng, Tuesday before noon. Bombs still were falling on the flaming townsite as the Catalina made the hazardous landings. Several of the rescued Americans had been injured seriously.

"We were circling a small island not far from Kavieng, when a Mitchell came up and radioed that it had spotted a crew on the water," Lieutenant Gordon related.

Under fire 20 minutes
Six men were sighted on a life raft two miles off shore. Gordon and his crew circled for the dangerous landing in 15-foot swells.

When the "Arkansas Traveler," a pig painted on her sides, hit the surface some of her rivets broke and she began to take water. The plane taxied to the raft which contained several injured men. Life preservers on lines were tossed to them.

"We had to hurt a few of the injured to get them aboard," Gordon said in an apologetic tone.

After being 20 minutes under fire of shore batteries, the Catalina took off while billowing smoke from badly hit Kavieng was swept before a stiff wind.

Classmates Meet
Then a Mitchell piloted by Major Chester A. Coltharp, of Arkansas radioed that another crew was spotted on the water. A Mitchell piloted by Capt. Anthony N. Chiappe, of New York city, led the way.

Closer in to shore, three men were floating in the water. Ten minutes later, they had been taken aboard. One walked into the navigator's compartment and shook hands with one of the first rescued fliers.

"Imagine meeting you here," he said. They had been classmates at a flying school and this was their first meeting since their graduation. "Foolish Stunt!"

The big Catalina got off again. But Major Coltharp's Mitchell radioed it had spotted more men on the water. This time the fliers were so near Kavieng that the Catalina had to overshoot the landing by 800 yards to keep from hitting land.

"I thought it a foolish stunt," Gordon said, "for I thought we wouldn't get out with the nine we had rescued and it was a terrible chance to take to rescue one man—for we had seen only one head bobbing near the partly capsized raft that had been strafed from shore. When we taxied up, they were really pouring 75mm. shells at us. The man, meantime, had drowned and disappeared."

"We were seven or eight minutes under heavy fire before we got off again."

Pick Up Six More
Once back in the air, the plane heard Major Coltharp radio again that he had spotted six more men on the water. The Catalina circled. Her popped rivets caused her to ship much water every time she hit the heavy sea.

But back down she went, plowed through the water and picked up the six—two from one raft, four from another.

Heavily laden, and with the Japs pouring more shots at her, the "Arkansas Traveler" rose for one last time and headed for home.

YANK BOMBERS

off Japanese attempts to encircle Allied forces in the Mawu mountains of southwest Burma. The Indians held to their position, commanding the Ngakyedauk pass, main communications link between the Allied army and its bases in India. More than 700 enemy dead have been counted since February 4.

The New Delhi communique said Japanese attempting to cross the west bank of the Chindwin river to the north were driven back. American-trained Chinese forces continued their push across northern Burma.

Funeral services at the late residence at 8:30 o'clock. Saturday morning, followed by a high mass of requiem, to be conducted at 9 o'clock in the Church of the Annunciation. The rector, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, will be the celebrant. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery, McSherrystown.

IRISH IRKED BY SHAW WILL

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Irish were articulate today and the will of Mrs. George Bernard Shaw was responsible.

Stung by the report that the will would set up a $400,000 fund to teach people of her native land "self-control, elocution, deportment and the arts of personal contact and social intercourse," they made these comments:

In New York—Charles F. Connolly, editor of the Irish Echo: "It was the Irish themselves that taught the English manners and Christianity when the English were savages. Why, when the Irish were civilizing the world, the English were barbarians. Sure, the English were so steeped in denseness they would kiss the clay on an Irish boot, and I've history to prove that."

The Rev. Joseph J. Lynch, Fordham university semiotologist: "The Irish have always paid strict attention to the will of God, but they're not apt to pay much attention to the will of Mrs. George Bernard Shaw."

And from Boston, veritable seat of Irish culture in America, came these pithy comments on the matter: "John J. Fitzgerald, former mayor: 'I'm sorry Mrs. Shaw wasn't successful in improving her husband's manners.'"

Navy Appropriation Is Largest Ever

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt today asked the largest appropriation in history for the Navy—$30,789,000,000 for the 1945 fiscal year.

The outlay, subject to Congressional approval, would compare with $27,435,037,198 appropriated for the 1944 fiscal year and $23,808, 852,547 for the preceding year.

The tentative 1945 estimate for the war program of the War department is $18,001,451,840, compared with a 1944 appropriation of $59,036,297,571.

ANTI-SUBSIDY BILL

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Congress will toss the anti-subsidy bill to the White House today, and then wait for it to bounce back. Administration leaders said President Roosevelt is certain to veto this legislation which strikes at what he considers the heart of his wartime economic stabilization program. And they voiced confidence that the veto will be successful.

HOLD HEARINGS ON ROAD CASES

The second in a series of three hearings before boards of view on damages caused to three properties along the Gettysburg-Littlestown highway in the course of the relocation of that road several years ago was held today at the law library in the court house.

While no estimate of the amount of damage was made by the owner of the property, Howard Kime, Gettysburg R. D., at today's hearing estimates ranging from $1,000 to $2,000 were put forth by real estate dealers and others testifying. The board of view sitting in the case included Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., LeRoy H. Winebrenner and Edward Wright. Mr. Kime's property was left lower than the level of the road as a result of the relocation.

At Wednesday's hearing C. W. Strickhouser, Gettysburg R. D., claimed damages of approximately $6,000 to his property which was left high above the road by the relocation. The board of view in that hearing was Attorney Bigham, Pius S. Orner and Fred Riley.

The hearing at the law library Friday morning at 10 a. m. will be on damages to the property of Curtis Kime, adjoining the Howard Kime property and also left lower than the level of the road by the relocation.

Girl Scouts Are Thanked By Chaplain

A letter of thanks from Chaplain Thomas A. Shanahan, U. S. Army Services of Supply headquarters, was read Monday evening at a meeting of the Caroline Codori Girl Scout troop at St. Francis Xavier school. The letter was in appreciation for 75 rosaries mended by the local scouts and sent to the chaplain for distribution to men in service.

The letter said in part, "Your gift to the American soldiers of the Southwest Pacific area has been received by me and in turn will be distributed by the chaplains to the men. May your generosity bring to these soldiers a few moments of prayerful thinking with perhaps a prayer or two for the donor. The rosaries were most valuable. We had not one for all the men we are supposed to supply." The rosaries were mended and sent to the soldiers through the Chaplain's Aid Society of New York. The local scouts plan to continue the work.

A Valentine party was held for the counsellors and friends after the meeting. Hostesses were, Mary Louise Cole, Helen McGlaughlin, Lorraine Small, Barbara Ann Roth and Barbara Ann Small.

DISCHARGE FILED

The honorable discharge of Paul Edgar Cooley, Gettysburg, as a seaman second class from the U. S. Navy was filed today at the office of the county register and recorder. The medical discharge was given after Cooley had been in the service for ten months. It was issued February 11, from the U. S. Naval hospital, San Diego, California.

DIVORCE GRANTED

A decree in divorce was granted by the Adams county court today to Mary R. (Hege) Brown, Aspers, from Robert Franklin Brown, Biglerville. Cruelty was charged.

Milk Production Rises In January

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—Pennsylvania milk production in January was up three per cent from December but was three per cent below the January, 1943, total, the State agriculture department announced today.

Egg production, however, reached a record total of 237,000,000 dozens for the month and was six per cent better than in January last year.

Announcing that 364,000,000 lbs. of milk were produced last month, the department's crop reporting service said production per cow on Feb. 1 averaged 16 pounds against 16.3 pounds a year ago and a ten-year average of 15.8 pounds.

The agency said cows were receiving grains and concentrates at the second highest rate on record, each cow receiving an average of 7.2 pounds against seven pounds in 1943.

BLOOD TEST IS NOT CONCLUSIVE

Los Angeles, Feb. 17 (AP)—The California Supreme Court holds that blood tests to determine paternity are not conclusive evidence, says U. S. Attorney Charles H. Carr of the announcement that such tests had cleared comedian Charlie Chaplin of being the father of Joan Berry's baby.

Declaring his office was not interested in the tests' finality, however, and that in any case the 54-year-old actor would be prosecuted on Mann act and conspiracy indictments, the prosecutor yesterday thus quoted a 1937 State supreme court decision: "The 'Landsteiner or Bernstein blood grouping test' . . . may not be accepted as conclusive evidence that an alleged father is not in fact the father of a child whose paternity is in dispute."

Carr and Chaplin's attorneys, meanwhile, issued opposing statements on whether the blood tests would have any effect on Chaplin's trial on charges that he transported the 23 year old Miss Berry to New York and back for immoral purposes and that he and six other defendants conspired to deprive her of her civil rights by forcing her to leave Beverly Hills.

Breathing Spell For Argentine Chief

Montevideo, Uruguay, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Gen. Pedro Ramirez of Argentina, rid of conflicting elements who brought on this week's governmental crisis, appeared today to have gained a breathing spell in which to chart his future politics.

Appointments announced yesterday to fill three cabinet vacancies were regarded here as merely deferring a clear-cut decision on how Argentina will stand in the international picture.

The appointments apparently represented an attempt to compromise between the demands of the opposing factions, one of which was said to have urged a declaration of war on the Axis and the other to have strenuously opposed any such action.

DARING RESCUE BY NAVY PLANE SAVES 15 FLIERS UNDER JAP GUNS

By OLEN CLEMENTS (Associated Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in New Guinea, Feb. 17—The Navy Catalina, "Arkansas Traveler," weathered stiff fire from shore batteries of the Japanese at Kavieng, New Ireland, Tuesday—also 15-foot swells on the water that burst some of her rivets—to make the most spectacular rescue of downed American airmen of the southwest Pacific war.

Members of that crew, led by Lt. (jg.) Nathan G. Gordon, 27, of Morrilton, Arkansas, a former end on the University of Arkansas football team, told today of rescuing 15 fliers. That entailed making four landings in the face of shore gunfire.

The rescues came during the height of a massive air strike by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Mitchells on Kavieng Tuesday before noon. Bombs still were falling on the flaming townsite as the Catalina made the hazardous landings. Several of the rescued Americans had been injured seriously.

"We were circling a small island not far from Kavieng, when a Mitchell came up and radioed that it had spotted a crew on the water," Lieutenant Gordon related.

Under Fire 20 minutes Six men were sighted on a life raft two miles off shore. Gordon and his crew circled for the dangerous landing in 15-foot swells.

When the "Arkansas Traveler," a pig painted on her sides, hit the surface some of her rivets broke and she began to take water. The plane taxied to the raft which contained several injured men. Life preservers on lines were tossed to them.

"We had to hurt a few of the injured to get them aboard," Gordon said in an apologetic tone.

After being 20 minutes under fire of shore batteries, the Catalina took off while billowing smoke from badly hit Kavieng was swept before a stiff wind.

Classmates Meet Then a Mitchell piloted by Major Chester A. Coltharp, of Arkansas radioed that another crew was spotted on the water. A Mitchell piloted by Capt. Anthony N. Chippie, of New York city, led the way.

Closer in to shore, three men were floating in the water. Ten minutes later, they had been taken aboard. One walked into the navigator's compartment and shook hands with one of the first rescued fliers.

"Imagine meeting you here," he said. They had been classmates at a flying school and this was their first meeting since their graduation.

"Foolish Stunt"

The big Catalina got off again. But Major Coltharp's Mitchell radioed it had spotted more men on the water. This time the fliers were so near Kavieng that the Catalina had to overshoot the landing by 300 yards to keep from hitting land.

"I thought it a foolish stunt," Gordon said, "for I thought we wouldn't get out with the nine we had rescued and it was a terrible chance to take to rescue one man—for we had seen only one head bobbing near the partly capsized raft that had been strated from shore. When we taxied up, they were really pouring 75mm. shells at us. The man, meantime, had drowned and disappeared."

"We were seven or eight minutes under heavy fire before we got off again."

Pick Up Six More

Once back in the air, the plane heard Major Coltharp's radio again that he had spotted six more men on the water. The Catalina crew groaned. Her popped rivets caused her to ship much water every time she hit the heavy sea.

But back down she went, plowed through the water and picked up the six—two from one raft, four from another.

Heavily laden, and with the Japs pouring more shots at her, the "Arkansas Traveler" rose for the last time and headed for home.

Operation In Mess Hall Saves Seaman

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—An emergency operation, performed with make-shift equipment in the mess hall of a U. S. merchantman, saved the life of the member of a Navy torpedo boat squadron enroute to the war zone, the Navy reported today.

The operation—an appendectomy—was performed by Lt. (jg.) Frank Tellow, Mt. Lebanon, Pa., medical officer of the squadron, when George William Figs, Valley Falls, Kansas, became seriously ill, and it was impossible to transport him to shore for hospital care.

Move For Separate Convention Gains

Chicago, Feb. 17 (AP)—The American Democratic National committee's plans to hold a separate national convention from the regular party's conclave, is gaining support from "every section of the country," Robert E. O'Brian, secretary of the newly organized anti-administration group, said today.

O'Brian, who announced the committee's leaders would meet here Saturday with anti-administration Democrats from several mid-west states, said hundreds of pledges of support had been received at temporary headquarters here since the group was organized February 4.

Red Lion Man Is Charged By OPA

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—A warrant for the arrest of Sterling Smeltzer, of Red Lion, on a charge of illegal possession of gasoline coupons worth 80 gallons was issued last night by U. S. Commissioner W. S. Middleton.

The charge was filed by the district office of price administration through Chief Enforcement Attorney Charles J. Ware and Chief Investigator Robert O. Keim, who alleged he had four sheets of "C" coupons in his possession last Tuesday.

The warrant was turned over to Deputy Marshal William Capello for serving.

Mrs. Group is a prominent churchwoman in Waynesboro and has been devoting her time in this work in the Rouzerville Church of the Antidam congregation of the Church of the Brethren.

The newlyweds will be at home at 131 South Broad street, Waynesboro, following their return from a southern wedding trip.

DEATH

Mrs. Annie Kuhn

Mrs. Annie M. Kuhn, 69, widow of Bernard Kuhn, McSherrystown, died Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Hanover General hospital, where she had been a patient for the past week. Mrs. Kuhn was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weaver. Her husband, to whom she was married in 1893, preceded her in death about eight years ago.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Helen Riggs, Linus N. Kuhn, Girard Kuhn and Mrs. Earl Sterner, all of McSherrystown; Mrs. Monroe Noel, Hanover R. 2; Mrs. Francis Carbaugh, Hanover; Robert A. Kuhn, stationed with the U. S. Army in Africa, and Leo B. Kuhn of the U. S. Maritime Service; 20 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren and three brothers, Sylvester Weaver, Hanover R. 4; Harry Weaver, McSherrystown, and John Weaver, address unknown. Mrs. Kuhn was affiliated with the Daughters of Isabel and was a member of the Arch Cofraternity of the Church of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin, McSherrystown.

Funeral services at the late residence at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, followed by a high mass of requiem, to be conducted at 9 o'clock in the Church of the Annunciation. The rector, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick P. McGee, will be the celebrant. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery, McSherrystown.

IRISH IRKED BY SHAW WILL

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Irish were articulate today and the will of Mrs. George Bernard Shaw was responsible.

Stung by the report that the will would set up a $400,000 fund to teach people of her native land "self-control, elocution, deportment and the arts of personal contact and social intercourse," they made these comments:

In New York—Charles F. Connolly, editor of the Irish Echo: "It was the Irish themselves that taught the English manners and Christianity when the English were savages. Why, when the Irish were civilizing the world, the English were barbarians. Sure, the English were so steeped in denseness they would kiss the clay on an Irish boot, and I've history to prove that."

The Rev. Joseph J. Lynch, Fordham university seismologist: "The Irish have always paid strict attention to the will of God, but they're not apt to pay much attention to the will of Mrs. George Bernard Shaw."

And from Boston, veritable seat of Irish culture in America, came these pity comments on the case: John J. Fitzgerald, former mayor: "I'm sorry Mrs. Shaw wasn't successful in improving her husband's manners."

Navy Appropriation Is Largest Ever

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt today asked the largest appropriation in history for the Navy—$30,789,000,000 for the 1945 fiscal year.

The outlay, subject to Congressional approval, would compare with $27,435,037,198 appropriated for the 1944 fiscal year and $23,808, 852,547 for the preceding year.

The tentative 1945 estimate for the war program of the War department is $18,001,451,840, compared with a 1944 appropriation of $59,036,297,571.

ANTI-SUBSIDY BILL

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Congress will toss the anti-subsidy bill to the White House today, and then wait for it to bounce back. Administration leaders said President Roosevelt is certain to veto this legislation which strikes at what he considers the heart of his wartime economic stabilization program. And they voiced confidence that the veto will be sustained.

HOLD HEARINGS ON ROAD CASES

The second in a series of three hearings before boards of view on damages caused to three properties along the Gettysburg-Littlestown highway in the course of the relocation of that road several years ago was held today at the law library in the court house.

While no estimate of the amount of damage was made by the owner of the property, Howard Kime, Gettysburg R. D., at today's hearing estimates ranging from $1,000 to $2,000 were put forth by real estate dealers and others testifying. The board of view sitting in the case included Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., LeRoy H. Winebrenner and Edward Wright. Mr. Kime's property was left lower than the level of the road as a result of the relocation.

At Wednesday's hearing C. W. Strickhouser, Gettysburg R. D., claimed damages of approximately $6,000 to his property which was left high above the road by the relocation. The board of view in that hearing was Attorney Bigham, Pius S. Orner and Fred Riley.

The hearing at the law library Friday morning at 10 a. m. will be on damages to the property of Curtis Kime, adjoining the Howard Kime property and also left lower than the level of the road by the relocation.

Girl Scouts Are Thanked By Chaplain

A letter of thanks from Chaplain Thomas A. Shanahan, U. S. Army Services of Supply headquarters, was read Monday evening at a meeting of the Caroline Codori Girl Scout troop at St. Francis Xavier school. The letter was in appreciation for 75 rosaries mended by the local scouts and sent to the chaplain for distribution to men in service.

The letter said in part, "Your gift to the American soldiers of the Southwest Pacific area has been received by me and in turn will be distributed by the chaplains to the men. May your generosity bring to these soldiers a few moments of peaceful thinking with perhaps a prayer or two for the donor. The rosaries were most valuable. We had not one for all the men we are supposed to supply." The rosaries were mended and sent to the soldiers through the Chaplain's Aid Society of New York. The local scouts plan to continue the work.

A Valentine party was held for the counsellors and friends after the meeting. Hostesses were Mary Louise Cole, Helen McGlaughlin, Lorraine Small, Barbara Ann Roth and Barbara Ann Small.

DISCHARGE FILED

The honorable discharge of Paul Edgar Cooley, Gettysburg, as a seaman second class from the U. S. Navy was filed today at the office of the county register and recorder. The medical discharge was given after Cooley had been in the service for ten months. It was issued February 11, from the U. S. Naval hospital, San Diego, California.

And here's another item from the forthcoming issue of Nation's Business: "Swiss-born Erica de Meuron stepped on United States soil for the first time July 19, 1940. With her husband she was in flight before Hitler. Source of their income, largely Paris real estate, was in Nazi hands.

"Today the name Erica de Meuron is a nationally known mark of elegance in women's dresses. Miss Meuron has more than 100 people working for her, making the hand-knitted, sports-type wool dress she has originated.

"Question her about her success, and she will tell you: 'The secret is America. It can happen only here. So many told me that there were no more opportunities in America. Maybe you have to come from another country to see it in true perspective. But I want to say this—the opportunities here are still fabulous.'"

BLOOD TEST IS NOT CONCLUSIVE

Los Angeles, Feb. 17 (AP)—The California Supreme Court holds that blood tests to determine paternity are not conclusive evidence, says U. S. Attorney Charles H. Carr of the announcement that such tests had cleared comedian Charlie Chaplin of being the father of Joan Berry's baby.

Declaring his office was not interested in the tests' finality, however, and that in any case the 54-year-old actor would be prosecuted on Mann act and conspiracy indictments, the prosecutor yesterday thus quoted a 1937 State supreme court decision: "The Landsteiner or Bernstein blood grouping test... may not be accepted as conclusive evidence that an alleged father is not in fact the father of a child whose paternity is in dispute."

Carr and Chaplin's attorneys, meanwhile, issued opposing statements on whether the blood tests would have any effect on Chaplin's trial on charges that he transported the 23 year old Miss Berry to New York and back for immoral purposes and that he and six other defendants conspired to deprive her of her civil rights by forcing her to leave Beverly Hills.

Breathing Spell For Argentine Chief

Montevideo, Uruguay, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Gen. Pedro Ramirez of Argentina, rid of conflicting elements who brought on this week's governmental crisis, appeared today to have gained a breathing spell in which to chart his future policies.

Appointments announced yesterday to fill three cabinet vacancies were regarded here as merely deferring a clear-cut decision on how Argentina will stand in the international picture. The appointments apparently represented an attempt to compromise between the demands of the opposing factions, one of which was said to have urged a declaration of war on the Axis and the other to have strenuously opposed any such action.

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 17 (AP)—Kee Nakama, Hawaiian free style swimming star, wasn't big enough to enter military service with his teammates on Ohio State's 1943 cham-

Chicago, Feb. 17 (AP)—Five years ago Lou Weintraub, baseball coach at Marshall high school, took on the added duties of coaching basketball—and ever since his junior teams have been winning their games.

The commandos own prep basketball's longest winning streak—34 games—and are heading for their fifth Chicago City league title. But Weintraub hopes that at the season's end, following playoff contests, the victory streak, which started in December, 1939, will be extended to 101 games.

Ott closed with a rush to win the popularity poll of the War Bond Sports committee, topping the late Lou Gehrig by more than four thousand votes although the latter received more individual ballots from small subscribers.

By JOHN F. CHANDLER
Annapolis, Md., Feb. 17 (AP)—The Naval Academy announced today the appointment of Commander Oscar Emil (Swede) Hagberg, Charleston, Pa., native, as head football coach, thus confirming reports circulated for many weeks.

Hagberg, a submarine skipper who recently returned from active duty in the Pacific, was a versatile Navy grid performer 15 years ago, and formerly was assistant Middle football coach.

In a statement from the superintendent's office, the Academy announced that the erstwhile fullback end and tackle had been assigned to the foreign languages department "with additional duty in the department of physical training as head football coach x x x"

Hagberg, who succeeds Capt. John E. Wheelchel, was visiting his home town of Follansbee, W. Va., when the announcement came today, but others on the coaching staff indicated he would disclose spring football training plans soon after his return about Feb. 25.

Aide To Larson
The new mentor, a member of the Navy varsity in 1928-29-30, was an aide to Major Emory E. Larson at Annapolis in 1939, and previously coached the Sailor Plebe and Junior varsity outfits.

Thus it was expected that he would retain the Navy's single wing system, with its occasional T formation variations, since a fairly sizable number of Wheelchel's 1943 squad will return next fall. In nine games last year, Navy lost only to Notre Dame for one of the best seasons in the midshipmen's football history.

Hagberg will have plenty of material, especially backs. His line will require attention, for six regulars have departed, leaving only guard Ben Chase, who was named captain-elect of the 1944 club.

The six-foot coach, who has been with the fleet several years, was born Dec. 18, 1908. He was an all-around athlete at Bethany (W. Va.) college before entering the academy, where he also played basketball and lacrosse.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—The news from Florida that Joe Tinker is winning his battle with a serious illness isn't entirely unexpected. Joe never was a fellow to lose fights, though he and Johnny Evers might not agree on the outcome of some of their famous scraps. When they formed the Cubs' great infield combination, Tinker and Evers didn't speak to each other for two years because every time they exchanged words they wound up in a fight. Frank Chance finally told them he'd lick the one who started an argument. In later years they used to laugh together over their ball-field battles until they'd almost come to blows again arguing over who started the battle.

REAL INSIDE BALL

Since they were fighting to win ball games, the bickering kept Evers and Tinker on edge instead of ruining their teamwork. In fact, one of their greatest plays depended upon perfect timing and they worked it on Sam Crawford once with disastrous results to Detroit in the World Series of 1907 or '08. Crawford was on second and a run might have meant the ball game. Tinker kept dashing over to hold Sam close to the bag and once he got there first, yelling for the ball. But Catcher Johnny Kling didn't throw and Joe stood there, growling and kicking up dust while Crawford again took his lead. As Joe passed behind Sam to resume his position, he remarked: "You're a lucky guy. If Kling had thrown, we'd have caught you sure." Crawford turned to look over his right shoulder and make some reply and at that instant Kling threw to second and Evers raced over to make the catch and tag Sam before he realized what was going on behind his back.

TOOT LITTLE, TOOT SOON

This one comes from Moore Field, Texas, and will have to stand on its merits. Sgt. Coy O. Brown was refereeing a red-hot basketball game between two soldier teams. With only a few seconds to go, the sarge had his whistle in his mouth, ready to signal the end. Suddenly the sergeant coughed, the whistle beeped and most of the players relaxed. But the boy with the ball took one last shot and hit the basket squarely. That tied the score, and they say the argument about who won is good for the rest of the winter.

SOLID ROCKNE

Lieut. Comdr. Mal Elward, former Purdue grid coach, tells this yarn about his playing days at Notre Dame. Elward was Knute Rockne's sub in 1913. When Rockne was hurt, Coach Jess Harper leaned over and said: "Elward,

RHODE ISLAND DRIBBLER NEAR TO NEW MARK

New York (AP)—Ernie Calverley always has been on a winning team. That's why the Rhode Island State basketball ace was tickled pink when the Army Air Corps took him March 28, 1943.

Ernie says he cheered when he was assigned to Keesler Field, Miss. Three months later he was ordered to take a physical examination. The ex-Ram was told that he was washed out because of a heart murmur. There was only one thing to do—go back to college, and Ernie did.

AS a result, the native Rhode Islander bids fair to break the all-time major college basketball scoring record. It was made in 1943 when George Senesky, of St. Joseph's, Philadelphia, rang up 515 points.

Calverley started basketball when he was eight years old on a boy's team in a Pawtucket, R. I., grammar school. He credits his grammar school shooting eye to the fact that from that time on, he played night and day, summer and winter, indoors and outdoors.

The team that boasted Ernie Calverley always won the championship be it grammar school, high school or college. He was a member of the Rams who won the New England honors last year. That's why Ernie is sure they can't miss again this year.

The fans who saw Ernie perform recently in Boston against Northeastern will agree that he has plenty of stuff. He was battered from one end of the court to the other, forced out of the game with an injured ankle, limped back when the team didn't have any other substitute, and made 19 field goals and 10 fouls good during the evening for a total of 48 points.

It's a funny thing about Calverley's heart. It doesn't bother him playing basketball even though doctors have gone on record as saying the cage sport is tough on the ticker.

As a matter of fact, Ernie is usually tugging at the traces to get Coach Frank Keane to keep him in the game the full 40 minutes.

Three months later he was ordered to take a physical examination. The ex-Ram was told that he was washed out because of a heart murmur. There was only one thing to do—go back to college, and Ernie did.

As a result, the native Rhode Islander bids fair to break the all-time major college basketball scoring record. It was made in 1943 when George Senesky, of St. Joseph's, Philadelphia, rang up 515 points.

Calverley started basketball when he was eight years old on a boy's team in a Pawtucket, R. I., grammar school. He credits his fine shooting eye to the fact that from that time on, he played night and day, summer and winter, indoors and outdoors.

The team that boasted Ernie Calverley always won the championship by it grammar school, high school or college. He was a member of the Rams who won the New England honors last year. That's why Ernie is sure they can't miss again this year.

The fans who saw Ernie perform recently in Boston against Northwestern will agree that he has plenty of stuff. He was battered from one end of the court to the other, forced out of the game with an injured ankle, limped back when the team didn't have any other substitute, and made 19 field goals and 10 fouls good during the evening for a total of 48 points.

It's a funny thing about Calverley's heart. It doesn't bother him playing basketball even though doctors have gone on record as saying the cage sport is tough on the ticker.

As a matter of fact, Ernie is usually tugging at the traces to get Coach Frank Keaney to keep him in the game the full 40 minutes.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—The news from Florida that Joe Tinker is winning his battle with a serious illness isn't entirely unexpected. . . . Joe never was a fellow to lose fights, though he and Johnny Evers might not agree on the outcome of some of their famous scraps. . . .

When they formed the Cubs' great infield combination, Tinker and Evers didn't speak to each other for two years because every time they exchanged words they wound up in a fight. . . . Frank Chance finally told them he'd lick the one who started an argument. . . . In later years they used to laugh together over their ball field battles until they'd almost come to blows again arguing over who started the battle.

REAL INSIDE BALL

Since they were fighting to win ball games, the bickering kept Evers and Tinker on edge instead of ruining their teamwork. . . . In fact, one of their greatest plays depended upon perfect timing and they worked it on Sam Crawford once with disastrous results to Detroit in the World Series of 1907 or '08. . . . Crawford was on second and a run might have meant the ball game. . . . Tinker kept dashing over to hold Sam close to the bag and once he got there first, yelling for the ball. . . . But Catcher Johnny Kling didn't throw and Joe stood there, growling and kicking up dust while Crawford again took his lead. . . . As Joe passed behind Sam to resume his position, he remarked: "You're a lucky guy. If Kling had thrown, we'd have caught you sure." . . . Crawford turned to look over his right shoulder and make some reply and at that instant Kling threw to second and Evers raced over to make the catch and tag Sam before he realized what was going on behind his back.

TOOT LITTLE, TOOT SOON

This one comes from Moore Field, Texas, and will have to stand on its merits. . . . Sgt. Coy O. Brown was refereeing a red-hot basketball game between two soldier teams.

With only a few seconds to go, the sarge had his whistle in his mouth, ready to signal the end. . . . Suddenly the sergeant coughed, the whistles beeped and most of the players relaxed. . . . But the boy with the ball took one last shot and hit the basket squarely. . . . That tied the score, and they say the argument about who won is good for the rest of the winter.

SOLID ROCKNE

Lieut. Comdr. Mal Elward, former Purdue grid coach, tells this yarn about his playing days at Notre Dame. . . . Elward was Knute Rockne's sub in 1913. . . . When Rockne was hurt, Coach Jess Harper leaned over and said: "Elward,

UNCLE SAM

The American Uncle Sam has become one of the most famous of all created characters. The origin of the character is not quite clear, but in a little book that I have, entitled "American Myths and Legends," by Charles M. Skinner, is given an interesting account.

Some say that the first pictures were actual portraits of a typical Yankee then living in Maine. Others that it originated during the time of the creation of the famous character by Judge Halliburton, of Nova Scotia, whose creation Sam Slick was one of the first humorous characters invented for the purposes of expressing sarcasm and amusement.

The actual christening of the character Uncle Sam, however, is said by Mr. Skinner to have occurred in Albany at the time of the War of 1812. And this is the explanation: "A sloop had gone up the Hudson with munitions for troops, and the powder-boxes were marked 'U.S.' Some fellow who did not spell straight enough to know that the initials stood for United States asked a bystander if he knew what merchant was receiving this uncommonly large cargo. It chanced that the dockmaster was an elderly man who, his first name being Samuel, was known to the neighborhood as Uncle Sam; so the person addressed replied that the boxes appeared, from the 'U.S.' painted upon them, to belong to Uncle Sam."

The story is interesting, whether true or not. At any rate, Uncle Sam has proved his mettle time and again, as no chap to trifle with, as his enemies are now learning, and who will later learn to their greater sorrow and regret. Teamed up with old John Bull and the Russian Bear, there is trouble aplenty ahead for the enemies of freedom.

Genial and friendly as is old Uncle Sam in peace, he is a roaring and indignant creature when thoroughly mad, aroused by injustice and tyranny. In the words of old Tom Paine, "wherever liberty is not, there you will find him fighting. Right now he is all over the land selling Bonds to get this tragic war ended."

Initiate Coeds: The following girls of Gettysburg college received their final initiation into the Gamma Phi sorority on Wednesday evening, February 13. Sara Black, Eleanor Peters, Julie Peters, Elizabeth Shriver, Margaret Stouffer, Mary Stouffer, Anna Tawney and Frances Tawney.

Riggeal-Diehl: Miss Esther M. Riggeal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Riggeal, of Cashtown, and Wilmer S. Diehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Diehl, of near Cashtown, were married at the parsonage of the Reformed church, Fairfield, at 4:30 o'clock, Thursday evening. The wedding was performed by the Rev. Walter C. Pugh, who used the ring ceremony, and was witnessed by the bride's father and sister, Miss Hazel Riggeal.

The bride was attired in gray satin faced canton crepe with hat to match.

Rev. I. S. Ditzler Heads Directors: Rev. I. S. Ditzler, of East Berlin, was elected president of the Adams County School Directors' Association at the closing session of the one-day convention on Friday. He succeeds the Rev. T. C. Hesson.

Dr. H. A. Stonestier, Littlestown, first vice president; George H. Knouse, Biglerville, second vice president; J. H. Seasley, Biglerville, secretary, and I. L. Taylor, Gettysburg, treasurer.

Delegates chosen to represent the Adams County Association at the State convention of school directors were A. C. Keefer, Jacob Dentler and James E. Bowers, M. E. Knouse, Jacob Hulick and George Motter were named as alternates.

Get Modern Play for High School: Gettysburg High School players are preparing to present the farce comedy "On the Hiring Line" at the Lincoln Way Theater, Thursday evening, February 28, for the benefit of the athletic association of the school.

Following is the cast of characters: Sherman Fessenden, Richard Downie; Dorothy Fessenden, Miriam Hartzell; Steve Mack, Robert Bream; Mrs. Sherman Fessenden, Lorena Strine; Rennie Oliver, Alfred Gilbert; Mrs. Billie Capron, Elizabeth Bigham; Ritchie, Ross Kuhns; Mrs. Ritchie, Kathryn Hershey; and Nilly Capron, Richard Stock.

Keller-Alison: Mr. and Mrs. William P. Allison, of Franklin township, have just announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary A., to Paul J. Keller, of Franklin township on Friday evening, February 8. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George B. Ely.

Heads New Club at Washington: Joseph H. Himes, native of New Oxford, and former congressman from Ohio, has been elected president of the Congressional Country Club of Washington on the eve of the completion of the organization's club house at the capital. He has been one of the leaders in the organization of the club, said to be the largest and having the most distinguished membership in the public eye in the country.

Practicing For Firemen's Show: Practices for "Three Live Ghosts," the Gettysburg Fire Company's benefit show to be produced at the Lincoln Way Theater on Tuesday evening, February 19, are progressing nicely under the direction of Earl Stalmsmith. Following is the cast of characters:

Mrs. Grubbins, Mary Ramer; Peggy Woofers, Ellen Tipton; Rose Gordon, Dorothy Crouse; Lady Leicester, Marie Codori; Bolton, Percy Miller; Jimmy Grubbins, Fred Pfeffer; William Foster, Brady Armbror; Spooly, Murray Miller; Briggs, Grayson Peters; Benson, Horace Armbror, and policeman, William Timmins and Monroe Weiser.

Bury F. T. Wassenn: Frederick T. Wassenn, who died Tuesday afternoon at the age of 90, was buried Thursday morning in the Catholic cemetery following funeral services at St. Francis Xavier church at 10 o'clock. A requiem high mass at which the Rev. Mark E. Stock officiated, was sung.

Funeral services were Theodore Kimpfe, Professor Allen Dickson, George Eberhart, Vincent Redding, Henry Kalbfleisch and William F. Codori.

Noted Historian Spent Week-End at Arendtsville: Albert Cook Myers, a native of York Springs, now residing in Philadelphia, one of the greatest living authorities on William Penn, was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Jacobs in Arendtsville. Mrs. Jacobs is a first cousin of Mr. Myers.

Mr. Myers is serving on two commissions under Governor Pinchot. He is also writing a fifteen-volume history of the life of William Penn.

Personal: Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Broadway, returned Wednesday from a ten weeks' stay in Daytona, Florida, and other resorts in the South.

Mrs. Samuel Rathbon, of Denver, Colorado, has concluded a visit with Miss Alice Forney, Carlisle street.

RHODES WILL OPPOSE JAMES IN ELECTION

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (AP)—Republican former Governor Arthur H. James faced new opposition in his campaign for a full 10-year term in the Pennsylvania Superior court today with the announcement that another incumbent, Judge Chester H. Rhodes—a Democrat—will oppose him in the Republican primary.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democrat, said state Democratic leaders decided at a conference here last night to enter the Stroudsburg jurist in the GOP contest in order to "afford sincere Republicans an opportunity of demonstrating their adherence to the principle of supporting deserving jurists."

State Chairman David L. Lawrence said he had been advised that an Anti-James committee headed by prominent Republican women would go into action if Judge Rhodes entered. Rhodes also will file in the Democratic contest.

Fills Vacancy
James was sworn in as a member of the court last week under an appointment by his gubernatorial successor, Edward Martin, who named him to fill a vacancy. He was a member before he became Governor. Martin has endorsed his candidacy for a full term.

The Democratic opposition strategy was mapped at a dinner meeting attended by Guffey, Lawrence, Philadelphia City Chairman James P. Clark, party advisers and members of a primary state endorsed by the Republican State committee.

"The Democratic State committee at its recent meeting in Harrisburg endorsed Judge Rhodes for reelection on the basis of his splendid 10-year record," Guffey said. "Thousands of Republicans throughout the state, including many members of the judiciary and lawyers, are of the opinion that Judge Rhodes deserves another term."

"In order to give them an opportunity to vote against former Governor James we are planning to have Judge Rhodes file for the Republican nomination as well as the Democratic."

Keller-Alison: Mr. and Mrs. William P. Allison, of Franklin township, have just announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary A., to Paul J. Keller, of Franklin township on Friday evening, February 8. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George B. Ely.

Tony Ordenana Is Pirate Problem

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, already beset by worries over who will do what because of inroads of Selective Service on their lineup, added another worry today—what to do with the only definitely draft exempt player on the roster.

He is Tony Ordenana, nee Antonio Ordenana Rodriguez, a Spanish-speaking shortstop up from Portsmouth of the Piedmont league, and whose home is in Havana, Cuba.

Ordenana—he prefers his middle name to his surname for baseball purposes—bids fair to crowd somebody out of the infield when the National league season rolls around, come next April. But, the Pirates management avers:

"We don't know just where to put him. On his record of last year, we'll have to use him some place, but with Lee Handley apparently in good shape, and with Babe Dahlgren to take over the first base job, Frisch (Manager Frank Frisch) will have a time placing him."

PARDON BOARD DEFERS 2 PLEAS
Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—Decisions on the clemency pleas of Michael Musto, 45, Altoona, and William McCausland, 25, Erie, both sentenced to die for murder the week of March 20, have been deferred by the state pardon board until an alienist can examine them.

The board announced yesterday that Dr. Clarence Zeller, superintendent of Byberry hospital, Philadelphia, will report on their mental condition.

Musto was convicted of slaying his wife on the steps of the Blair county court house in Hollidaysburg and McCausland faces death in the murder of Leo Knoll in an Erie taproom.

Sure's a lot of talk going around nowadays about post-war planning... folks passing resolutions... statesmen holding conferences... governments making promises to each other.

But as Bert Childers says: "What good is all this drawing up of plans unless each one of us decides to make his corner of the world a better place to live in?"

From where I sit, Bert's put the problem in a nutshell. Governments can pass all the resolutions and make all the treaties...

REDS POUNDING SOUTH IN NEW ALL-OUT DRIVE

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Russian troops were pounding south on a 75-mile-wide front toward Pskov today in an all-out drive to capture that doorway to the Baltic states by Feb. 23, anniversary of the founding of the Red Army. At the same time, according to Berlin, other Soviet forces were striking across frozen Lake Peipus in the direction of Tartu, ancient cathedral city 25 miles west of the pre-war Estonian frontier.

A Russian communique said that spearheads of Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad Army had reached the three-mile-wide neck of water joining Lakes Peipus and Oskov at the town of Chedsokoye-Zakhodi. Berlin broadcasts declared the Russians also had sent sledge-borne troops across Lake Peipus but had been thrown back on the western shore. The Moscow communique did not mention this attempted crossing. Tartu, a logical objective if the crossing is made, is on the Eskevral railway.

Capture of the railway station of Yam, 45 miles northwest of Pskov on the Narva-Pskov railway, and Samolva, a few miles west, was announced in the Soviet bulletin. Five other towns were swept up in the Soviet push through the forests and lakes of this region. Red Army ski troops were especially active, dispatches said.

In the Luga area the town of Ovinets, 58 miles northeast of Pskov was captured. Lyanisevo, station on the Leningrad-Pskov railway 67 miles northeast of Pskov, also fell to the Leningrad troops. Approximately 30 other smaller towns and villages were liberated as the Germans steadily moved back, Russians said.

Far to the south in the Dnieper bend area, other Russian forces battered down frenzied German attempts to break through Soviet lines circling the remnants of ten Nazi

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS
Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with aching and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

divisions trapped near Cherkasy 14 days ago.

At least 2,500 Nazis were killed in this latest German escape thrust, the Russian war bulletin said. The trapped men attacked with infantry and tanks.

Outside the Red Army cordon, Field Marshal Fritz Von Mannstein sent brigade after brigade of tanks against the Russian lines in vain attempts to reach the encircled Nazis. Berlin claimed slight inroads, but Moscow reported all attacks repulsed with the destruction of 107 German tanks.

In addition, troops of Gens. Nikolai Vatutin and Ivan S. Konev captured four more towns west of Korsun in their relentless drive to liquidate the enemy position. Many prisoners were taken and 18 German transport planes captured during the day, the communique asserted.

Rev. I. S. Ditzler Heads Directors: Rev. I. S. Ditzler, of East Berlin, was elected president of the Adams County School Directors' Association at the closing session of the one-day convention on Friday. He succeeds the Rev. T. C. Hesson.

Dr. H. A. Stonelifer, Littlestown, first vice president; George H. Knouse, Biglerville, second vice president; J. H. Seasley, Biglerville, secretary, and L. L. Taylor, Gettysburg, treasurer.

Delegates chosen to represent the Adams County Association at the State convention of school directors were A. C. Keefer, Jacob Dentler and James E. Bowers. M. E. Knouse, Jacob Hulick and George Motter were named as alternates.

Get Modern Play for High School: Gettysburg High School players are preparing to present the farce comedy "On the Hiring Line" at the Lincoln Way Theater, Thursday evening, February 28, for the benefit of the athletic association of the school.

Following is the cast of characters:

Sherman Fessenden, Richard Downie; Dorothy Fessenden, Miriam Hartzell; Steve Mack, Robert Bream; Mrs. Sherman Fessenden, Lorena Strine; Rennie Oliver, Alfred Gilbert; Mrs. Billie Capron, Elizabeth Bigham; Ritchie, Ross Kuhns; Mrs. Ritchie, Kathryn Hershey; and Nilly Capron, Richard Stock.

Keller-Allison: Mr. and Mrs. William P. Allison, of Franklin township, have just announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary A., to Paul J. Keller, of Franklin township on Friday evening, February 8. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George B. Ely.

Heads New Club at Washington: Joseph H. Himes, native of New Oxford, and former congressman from Ohio, has been elected president of the Congressional Country Club of Washington on the eve of the completion of the organization's club house at the capital. He has been one of the leaders in the organization of the club, said to be the largest and having the most distinguished membership in the public eye in the country.

Practicing For Firemen's Show: Practices for "Three Live Ghosts," the Gettysburg Fire Company's benefit show to be produced at the Lincoln Way Theater on Tuesday evening, February 19, are progressing nicely under the direction of Earl Stallsmith. Following is the cast of characters:

Mrs. Grubbins, Mary Ramer; Peggy Woofers, Ellen Tipton; Rose Gordon, Dorothy Crouse; Lady Leicester, Marie Codori; Bolton, Percy Miller; Jimmy Grubbins, Fred Pfeffer; William Foster, Brady Arnold; Spooey, Murray Miller; Briggs, Grayson Peters; Benson, Horace Arnold, and policemen, William Timmins and Monroe Weiser.

Bury F. T. Wasson: Frederick T. Wasson, who died Tuesday afternoon at the age of 90, was buried Thursday morning in the Catholic cemetery following funeral services at St. Francis Xavier church at 10 o'clock. A requiem high mass at which the Rev. Mark E. Stock officiated, was sung.

Pallbearers were Theodore Kimpfe, Professor Allen Dickson, George Eberhart, Vincent Redding, Henry Kaibfleisch and William F. Codori.

Noted Historian Spent Week-End at Arendtsville: Albert Cook Myers, a native of York Springs, now residing in Philadelphia, one of the greatest living authorities on William Penn, was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Jacobs in Arendtsville. Mrs. Jacobs is a first cousin of Mr. Myers.

Mr. Myers is serving on two commissions under Governor Pinchot. He is also writing a fifteen-volume history of the life of William Penn.

Personal: Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Broadway, returned Wednesday from a ten weeks' stay in Daytona, Florida, and other resorts in the south.

Mrs. Samuel Rathbon, of Denver, Colorado, has concluded a visit with Miss Alice Farney, Carlisle street.

RHODES WILL OPPOSE JAMES IN ELECTION

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (AP)—Republican former Governor Arthur H. James faced new opposition in his campaign for a full 10-year term in the Pennsylvania Superior court today with the announcement that another incumbent, Judge Chester H. Rhodes—a Democrat—will oppose him in the Republican primary.

U. S. Senator Joseph E. Guffey, Pittsburgh Democrat, said state Democratic leaders decided at a conference here last night to enter the Stroudsburg jurist in the GOP contest in order to "afford sincere Republicans an opportunity of demonstrating their adherence to the principle of supporting deserving sitting jurists."

State Chairman David L. Lawrence said he had been advised that an Anti-James committee headed by prominent Republican women would go into action if Judge Rhodes entered. Rhodes also will file in the Democratic contest.

James was sworn in as a member of the court last week under an appointment by his gubernatorial successor, Edward Martin, who named him to fill a vacancy. He was a member before he became Governor. Martin has endorsed his candidacy for a full term.

The Democratic opposition strategy was mapped at a dinner meeting attended by Guffey, Lawrence, Philadelphia City Chairman James P. Clark, party advisers and members of a primary slate endorsed by the Republican State committee.

"The Democratic State committee at its recent meeting in Harrisburg endorsed Judge Rhodes for reelection on the basis of his splendid 10-year record," Guffey said.

"Thousands of Republicans throughout the state, including many members of the judiciary and lawyers, are of the opinion that Judge Rhodes deserves another term."

"In order to give them an opportunity to vote against former Governor James we are planning to have Judge Rhodes file for the Republican nomination as well as the Democratic."

Tony Ordenana Is Pirate Problem

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, already beset by worries over who will do what because of inroads of Selective Service on their lineup, added another worry today—what to do with the only definitely draft exempt player on the roster.

He is Tony Ordenana, nee Antonio Ordenana Rodriguez, a Spanish-speaking shortstop up from Portsmouth of the Piedmont league, and whose home is in Havana, Cuba.

Ordenana—he prefers his middle name to his surname for baseball purposes—bids fair to crowd somebody out of the infield when the National league season rolls around, come next April. But, the Pirate management avers:

"We don't know just where to put him. On his record of last year, we'll have to use him some place, but with Lee Handley apparently in good shape, and with Babe Dahlgren to take over the first base job, Frisch (Manager Frank Frisch) will have a time placing him."

PARDON BOARD DEFERS 2 PLEAS

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—Declarations on the clemency pleas of Michael Musto, 45, Altoona, and William McCausland, 25, Erie, both sentenced to die for murder the week of March 20, have been deferred by the state pardon board until an alienist can examine them.

The board announced yesterday that Dr. Clarence Zeller, superintendent of Byberry hospital, Philadelphia, will report on their mental condition.

Musto was convicted of slaying his wife on the steps of the Blair county court house in Hollidaysburg and McCausland faces death in the murder of Leo Knoll in an Erie taphouse.

REDS POUNDING SOUTH IN NEW ALL-OUT DRIVE

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Russian troops were pounding south on a 75-mile-wide front toward Pskov today in an all-out drive to capture that doorway to the Baltic states by Feb. 23, anniversary of the founding of the Red Army. At the same time according to Berlin, other Soviet forces were striking across frozen Lake Peipus in the direction of Tartu, ancient cathedral city 25 miles west of the pre-war Estonian frontier.

A Russian communique said that spearheads of Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad Army had reached the three-mile-wide neck of water joining Lakes Peipus and Oskov at the town of Chedskoye-Zakhodi. Berlin broadcasts declared the Russians also had sent sledge-borne troops across Lake Peipus but had been thrown back on the western shore. The Moscow communique did not mention this attempted crossing. Tartu, a logical objective if the crossing is made, is on the Eskovreval railway.

Capture of the railway station of Yam, 45 miles northwest of Pskov on the Narva-Pskov railway, and Samolva, a few miles west, was announced in the Soviet bulletin. Five other towns were swept up in the Soviet push through the forests and lakes of this region. Red Army ski troops were especially active, dispatches said.

In the Luga area the town of Ovinets, 58 miles northeast of Pskov was captured. Lyantsevo, station on the Leningrad-Pskov railway 67 miles northeast of Pskov, also fell to the Leningrad troops. Approximately 30 other smaller towns and villages were liberated as the Germans steadily moved back, Russians said.

Far to the south in the Dnieper bend area, other Russian forces battered down frenzied German attempts to break through Soviet lines circling the remnants of ten Nazi divisions trapped near Cherkasy 14 days ago.

At least 2,500 Nazis were killed in this latest German escape thrust, the Russian war bulletin said. The trapped men attacked with infantry and tanks.

Outside the Red Army cordon, Field Marshal Fritz Von Mannstein sent brigade after brigade of tanks against the Russian lines in vain attempts to reach the encircled Nazis. Berlin claimed slight inroads, but Moscow reported all attacks repulsed with the destruction of 107 German tanks.

In addition, troops of Gens. Nikolai Vatutin and Ivan S. Konev captured four more towns west of Korsun in their relentless drive to liquidate the enemy position. Many prisoners were taken and 18 German transport planes captured during the day, the communique asserted.

DRAFT BOARDS TO REVIEW ALL FARM WORKERS

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Draft boards today were ordered to review immediately the cases of 1,700,000 deferred farm workers and cancel the deferments of those not contributing their share of production in the light of increased crop goals for 1944.

Selective Service announced that boards are not expected to continue to defer a farm worker unless he produces "by his own personal and direct efforts" at least 16 "war units" a year. Heretofore registrants have been considered for deferment if they produced eight or more "war units"—which were formulated by the Agriculture department as a measure of agricultural activity.

"Drastic Action"
There was no estimate of how many farmers the new policy would throw into the armed forces. But Selective Service left no doubt it was taking drastic action. High draft officials had prepared the public for the order in two recent speeches at Chicago, warning that farm workers soon will find it harder to qualify for deferments under the Tydings amendment.

Local boards will first go through the list of registrants in Class 2-C, in sequence of order numbers. There are more than 1,000,000 non-fathers deferred in agriculture, and most of them are in 2-C, the classification for men deferred solely because of farm work.

Those in this class who continue to qualify for deferment under the new regulations will be reclassified in 2-C for six months or less, and then their cases will be reopened again.

400,000 Single Men
When a local board has reviewed all its 2-C men, it will start on Class 3-C, which consists of men deferred not only for agriculture but also because of having dependents.

This class, in the sequence of order numbers, will be liquidated altogether, in the same manner as Class 3-A, because dependency is no longer a ground for deferment.

Those in 3-C who can still qualify for a farm deferment will be put in 2-C.
Under the Tydings amendment to the Selective Service act, men found by local boards to be "necessary to and regularly engaged in" essential agricultural occupations must be deferred as long as no replacements can be obtained.

Selective Service pointed out that of the 1,700,000 men in Classes 2-C and 3-C, 400,000 are single men below 22 years old. It also pointed

1-POINT GREEN TO BE CHANGED TEMPORARILY

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—One-point green stamps as well as the new blue ration tokens will be given as change in processed food sales during the first three weeks the token plan is in operation.

The Office of Price Administration, announcing this today, said the arrangement was a precaution against the possibility that tokens may not be well distributed immediately in some sections. They will be put in use February 27.

It will be the first use of green stamps as change. One-point brown stamps for meat are currently being used in this manner and the policy will be continued during the change-over to the token plan.

Two sets of stamps will be used for processed foods and two for meats and fats during the three-week transition period.

Transition Plan
The last of the green stamps—K, L and M—and the brown Y and out that in war production and war supporting activities—aside from agriculture—less than 125,000 non-fathers below 22 were deferred as of Jan. 1, and under a recent order these deferments, generally speaking, are not being renewed.

COLESCOTT IS "NOT GUILTY"

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—A directed verdict acquitted James A.

stamps D8, E8 and F8 will be good March 12 through May 20.

Change for the two sets of meat stamps will be given in red tokens and—through March 20—in one-point brown stamps.

Colescott of Atlanta, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, and four Pennsylvania associates late yesterday of charges of conspiracy growing out of an organization meeting two months before Pearl Harbor.

Judge A. Marshall Thompson, for many years before his election to the Allegheny County common pleas court a teacher of constitutional law at the University of Pittsburgh, warned, however, his decision did not mean approval of the Klan organization.

Marshall said he agreed with defense counsel's contention a conviction would violate the bill of rights granting free speech to Americans, but that acts contemplated in a purported speech by Colecott here in October, 1941, would make a different picture.

He referred to testimony by a newspaper reporter and State Police Sgt. Willard Schauer, that they heard Colecott "urge reorganization of the Klan as a militant, fighting, protestant, white, native born group of Americans" and "mentioned fighting the Jews, the Negroes and the Catholics."

There were 271,981 children born in Canada in 1942, an increase of 16,500 over 1941.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM DONALD NELSON

IN VIEW OF THE SERIOUS NATURAL GAS SHORTAGE, I AM ASKING YOUR COMPANY AND EVERY GAS COMPANY IN THE APPALACHIAN AREA TO SEND A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM ME TO EVERY RESIDENTIAL CONSUMER, STORE AND FACTORY, CALLING UPON THEM TO COOPERATE IN AN ALL-OUT EMERGENCY CONSERVATION IN THE USE OF GAS DURING THE NEXT SIXTY DAYS. AFTER APRIL THERE WILL BE MUCH LESS DIFFICULTY IN TAKING CARE OF REQUIREMENTS AND BEFORE NEXT WINTER, WE EXPECT TO COMPLETE A NEW LARGE PIPELINE FROM TEXAS WHICH WILL PROVIDE AN ADDITIONAL LARGE SOURCE OF SUPPLY FOR THE AREA. HOWEVER, DURING THE NEXT CRUCIAL TWO MONTHS IT IS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY THAT EVERY CONSUMER REDUCE HIS CONSUMPTION OF GAS SO THAT WE WILL BE ABLE TO SAFE GUARD DELIVERIES TO VITAL WAR PLANTS.

DONALD M NELSON CHAIRMAN WAR PRODUCTION BOARD.

Donald Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, says the situation is critical for Natural Gas and will be for the next 60 days.

Here's how you can help save it in your home, office, store or factory:

- 1 Don't use your kitchen range for heating. Close off rooms or space not in use, and don't use Gas room heaters to supplement other fuel.
- 2 Don't waste Gas by washing dishes or hands in hot running water. Bathe with minimum hot water.
- 3 Avoid excessive room temperatures.
- 4 Cook with low flame and minimum amount of water. Turn off burners promptly.

5 Replace or clean furnace filters, insulate your water heater, install storm sash and insulation.

Natural Gas long ago "went to war" in our war plants . . . to make parts for tanks, guns, planes, ships for our fighting forces. The next 60 days are critical ones. While the emergency exists, please help all you can. None of the above points may seem important in itself, but in the aggregate they all count.

MOVEMENT FOR "PEACE NOW" IS HELD SEDITIOUS

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Dies committee turned over to the Justice department today evidence it said showed that the "Peace Now" movement has engaged in "acts whose nature is clearly seditious and which tend toward the encouragement of treason."

Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said he would recommend prosecution under the sedition laws. Dies, head of the special House committee investigating un-American activities, told reporters he believed his group's formal report on "Peace Now," made public last night, "spells the end of that organization," but added that the committee "will continue to keep a watchful eye on those connected with the movement."

One of the main items Dies said he would hand over to Attorney General Biddle was a letter which committee investigators obtained from the organization's files and which, the committee said, was sent to 57 prominent religious leaders last October.

The letter, the committee report

said, invited the religious leaders to "publicly request all the followers of Christ under your banner at once to lay down their arms and cease supporting this war."

In its judgment, the committee reported, "the mailing of each and every one of these letters from the office of the Peace Now movement was a seditious act deliberately designed to lead toward wholesale treason on the part of the armed forces of the United States" and involved "a plan for mass treason which was truly colossal in its conception."

A follow-up letter, the committee expressed the belief it would be preferable for Christians to be "guilty of treason to this Administration than guilty of treason to the Christ."

The committee said Peace Now was organized last year to work for a negotiated peace. Its officers were identified as George W. Hartman, chairman; Dorothy Hutchinson, associate editor; Marjorie Ewbank, treasurer, and Bessie Simon, secretary.

Dies said he would ask the Justice department to determine

MOVEMENT FOR "PEACE NOW" IS HELD SEDITIOUS

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Dies committee turned over to the Justice department today evidence it said showed that the "Peace Now" movement has engaged in "acts whose nature is clearly seditious and which tend toward the encouragement of treason."

Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said he would recommend prosecution under the sedition laws. Dies, head of the special House committee investigating un-American activities, told reporters he believed his group's formal report on "Peace Now," made public last night, "spells the end of that organization," but added that the committee "will continue to keep a watchful eye on those connected with the movement."

One of the main items Dies said he would hand over to Attorney General Biddle was a letter which committee investigators obtained from the organization's files and which, the committee said, was sent to 57 prominent religious leaders last October.

The letter, the committee report

said, invited the religious leaders to "publicly request all the followers of Christ under your banner at once to lay down their arms and cease supporting this war."

In its judgment, the committee reported, "the mailing of each and every one of these letters from the office of the Peace Now movement was a seditious act deliberately designed to lead toward wholesale treason on the part of the armed forces of the United States" and involved "a plan for mass treason which was truly colossal in its conception."

A follow-up letter, the committee reported, expressed the belief it would be preferable for Christians to be "guilty of treason to this Administration than guilty of treason to the Christ."

The committee said Peace Now was organized last year to work for a negotiated peace. Its officers were identified as George W. Hartman, chairman; Dorothy Hutchinson, associate editor; Marjorie Ewbank, treasurer; and Bessie Simon, secretary.

Dies said he would ask the Justice department to determine whether deportation or detention of Oslo, Norway, whom the committee identified as a field secretary for Peace Now.

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1944

Story Of Founding Of Historic Emmitsburg, Maryland

By JAMES A. HELMAN

Tom's Creek Lutheran cemetery is the oldest burying ground in this locality. Prior to 1746, when the first patent was recorded, squatters had taken possession of plots of land, centering upon Tom's creek location as a central point. Hundreds of persons were buried along the stream. The entire acre with little exception is taken up by unmarked graves. As an evidence that this is the only burying ground of the time, none of the farms north, east or west of this area have grounds. The nearest burying grounds to the south is at the Close farm.

Among those buried in the Tom's Creek cemetery are George Smith, 1720-1793; Christian Smith, 1720-1790; Jacob Danner, 1768; Margaret Danner, 1782; Peter Troxell, 1719-1799; Mrs. Peter Troxell, 1737-1806; Maria Troxell, 1771-1794; Michael Row, 1762-1831; Mrs. Michael Row, 1763-1842; Jacob Troxell, 1763-1807; Captain Michael Sluss, 1785-1859; John Sluss, 1809-1890; Isaac Row, 1797-1841; Frederick Ohler, 1787-1869; Joseph Crabbs, 1786-1850; Barthol Waddle, 1787-1847; John Hockensmith, 1775-1855; Barbara, his wife, 1787-1842; William Hockensmith, 1813-1860; S. Oyster, 1792-1794; John Smith, 1782-1783; James Ohler, 1801-1873; Daniel Row, 1806-1851; George Row, 1755-1845; Anna May, his wife, 1758-1838; John Row, 1800-1873; Agnes Row, his wife, 1802-1880; George Ohler, 1788-1826; John Hoover, 1771-1832; Jesse Hoover; Sally Hockensmith, 1814-1894; Betsy Hockensmith, 1802-1874.

Zimmerman Cemetery

The following are in the Methodist cemetery: Solomon Krise, 1807-1887; Elizabeth Nickum, 1770-1853; Jacob Nickum; Abraham Stanbury, 1768-1855; William Biggs, 1797-1876; Amy Biggs, 1804-1848; John Fuss, 1835-1900; John Smith, 1764-1825; William Moser, 1811-1881; Frederick Crabbs, 1774-1851; David Crabbs, 1761-1827; Elizabeth Hoover, 1744-1833; David Morrison, 1802-1868; Prudence Morrison, his wife; Samuel Smith, 1802-1830; William Gilson, 1830-1893; Mrs. William Gilson, 1836-1875; Richard Gilson, 1795-1874; Mrs. R. Gilson, 1800-1873; Susan Harbaugh, 1782-1869; John Munshower and wife.

In the Zimmerman cemetery in Adams County, Pa., three miles north of town, were buried in the colonial days the dead of that locality; many graves are unmarked, from whom the sturdy stock of the present generation descended. Such as it required to build a nation—the Overholzers, Elkers, Zimmermans, Bakers, Rhodes and Cochran.

Indian Burial Place

The only Indian burial place accurately known in this locality is on the Gilson farm; about seventy-five years ago the ground was plowed over. The sacred spot to the red man yielded quite a quantity of skulls and bones. An eye witness who had gone to inspect the war relics and mayhap get a skull, found them in such condition that he procured a few teeth only.

Emmitsburg

Samuel Emmitt, after laying out the town August 12th, 1785, deeded to his son William, 53 acres of land as follows: Samuel Emmitt to his son William, part of Carrollsburg, where in the lots of a new town of Emmitsburg are laid out.

Excepting five lots, to wit: No. 1 to Samuel Emmitt's wife; No. 17 to son Josiah; No. 16 to daughter Mary; No. 4 to son Abraham James; No. 10 to grandchild William Porter.

The following lots were sold to persons named for a price of two pounds, ten shillings with a ground rent of seven shillings, six pence in gold:

Original Layout

No. 1, Mrs. Samuel Emmitt; 2, Michael Row; 3, Samuel Caldwell, York county, Pennsylvania; 4, Abraham James Emmitt; 5, Jacob Hockensmith; 6, Conrad Hockensmith; 7, Christian Smith; 8, Patrick Reid; 9, John Whitmore; 10, William Porter; 11, James Hughes; 12, Adam Hoffman; 13, John Rogers; 15, Charles Robinson; 16, Mary Emmitt; 17, Josiah Emmitt; 19, Samuel Carrick; 20, Margaret McDanel; 22, Michael Smith; 23, James Agnew; 24, Daniel Gorden; 26, Michael Hockensmith; 27, Richard Jennings; 28, James Hughes; 29, David Tanner; 30, James Larkins; 31, Jacob Tanner; 34, John Lock, alias Sluss; 36, Robert Wrench; 39, John McGorgan, the man who proposed calling the town Emmitsburg.

The original lay-out of the town was from lot No. 1, the lot where Quincy Shoemaker's shop stood in 1906; then west to the alley where C. T. Zacharias' house stands, then across to J. A. Helman, then east to John Hospelhorn's house. Samuel Emmitt then made a deed to his son, William, for 35 acres; he continued the extension from the west end to the east line of the land sold to William Shields in September 1787, when it is supposed Emmitt added his addition to connect with Shields and the eastern from the lot No. 1 to the eastern edge extant. All the land on both sides of the town was laid out in building lots from Flat Run to the run on south side, as the plot made by Andrew Smith in 1808 shows.

Lines Obliterated

These lots were in possession of such men as John Troxell, Lewis Weaver, Patrick Reid, Jacob Danner, John Armstrong, Frederick Gelwicks, Tenry Fannestock, Robert Flemming, Lewis Motter and others.

The lot lines were obliterated and the land was used for farming, continuing in that relation ever since.

An agreement between Samuel Emmitt, Henry Williams, John Troxell and Jacob Hockensmith, upon the line of Carrollsburg as surveyed by L. Benge, county surveyor, November 3rd, 1891, contains some unusual statements including:

Interesting Comments

"One line runs near James Jan-nise's old cabin where the trees are marked with the Indian eyes and mouth, then through a bottom of Samuel Emmitt's, too long made use of by old Hockensmith and his son Jacob, on Middle creek.

"Samuel Caldwell may remember the nineteenth line of Carrollsburg, where he was almost knocked down by an axe that flew off its handle December 1st, 1785.

"Deed made by Lewis Motter to George Smith, March 27th, 1802, for brick house along Frederick road."

Addition to Emmitsburg

May 20th, 1786, Samuel Emmitt gave to his son William, 55 acres of land in addition and adjoining the land deeded August 12th, 1785, part of Carrollsburg tract, to extend the limits of the new town, now Emmitsburg.

Samuel Emmitt, the founder of Emmitsburg, nationally, Irish, took out a patent May 17, 1757 for 2,250 acres of land. He was not the earliest settler in this section, but he was a far-seeing man, and used his intelligence, knowing towns would be a nucleus for a community, he early sold off lots of land to incoming persons, and established a center here, in this beautiful valley, which has afforded so many returning descendants of the pioneers, as well as strangers pleasure to sniff the fresh, fragrant air that invigorates the spirit of the depressed.

"Beautiful Surroundings"

One good father in the Roman Catholic church when asked how he liked his new field of labor, he had been removed to Germantown, replied: "Heaven first, Emmitsburg next." We may seek other places and decay our own but no where on the earth will you find more beautiful surroundings. The landscape could not be improved. The health resorts are no better. The genial climate of the 39th degree, with the exception of an occasional blizzard, which all sections are heir too; neither heat nor cold become excessive, a happy mediums reigns. We know it. Do we appreciate it? The mountains hard by are a protection. Many storms miss us, they are divided by these mountains; we see them as they flee away to the north or south.

"There is honor due Mr. Emmitt for his perception and selection of a truly lovely spot. Is it not the theme of the graduate as she pens her verses for the great day of her life, and deplores her departure from the shadow of Carrick's Knob? Do we not, with it in view from our infancy, stand and gaze upon it, not only when it is covered by leaves, but in its barrenness, and when the snow covers its peak, and we await the rising moon to increase its splendor. When we ascend its Indian lookout and gaze over the landscape, taking in the range of the mountain, then

YOUNG SOLDIER SURVIVES HARD WAR OPERATION

Emmitsburg Feb. 17.—Just seven months ago tomorrow Merton W. Anthony, 25, of Cambridge, Md., lay on an operating table in a military hospital in the Fiji Islands following the course of old Tom's creek in our vision we behold the grandeur of the valley as it lies beneath our feet, filled with the well cared-for buildings and productive farms. There is a halo of satisfaction around every life, but to him who has proper appreciation of great and grand scenery, he can feast to his fullness here. Yea, if he has not seen the beauties, let him visit some locality where all is level for a hundred miles, and his eye will tire at the sameness of the place, and he will long for the hills and valleys to reinstate him in favor with himself."

Laid Out In 1785

This town was laid out in 1785. It was known as Poplar Fields prior to that date, when at a public meeting held at Hockensmith's Tavern (located on the farm now owned by Meade Fuss), John McGorgan was called to the chair. He proposed to change the name from Poplar Fields to Emmitsburg in honor of Samuel Emmitt, one of the largest land owners in the district. All persons threw up their hats, clapped their hands and hurrahed for Emmitsburg.

The company had quite a merry time, and having drank the health of the newly baptized town, they returned home full of sanguine expectation as to the rapid growth of the infant settlement. The population at that time consisted of seven families; Capt. Richard Jennings, merchant; Hoffman, hatter; John Rogers, tavern keeper; Michael Smith, blacksmith; Frederick Baird, carpenter; James and Joseph Hughes, merchant and architect.

apparently dead. He weathered one of the most serious major operations ever undertaken by an Army field surgeon. Today, he is alive and well, discharged from the Army and fit to take his place in civilian life, which he left 36 months ago. And, as might be expected, he is singing the praises of Army surgeons, nurses and everyone else connected with the medical corps.

Anthony was wounded at Guadalcanal. He went in there with the 182nd in November 1942 as a private first class, an automatic rifleman. He was up at the front for four months. Then the incessant concussion of daily aerial attacks and the explosions of mortar shells took their toll.

One day he found he couldn't walk; couldn't even stand up. A hasty examination revealed he had an "upside down stomach." He was evacuated to the Fijis, where the man was given the more formal name of "diaphragmatic hernia" and a last-chance operation ordered. It was begun by Lieut. Col. Harry Hull, chief surgeon at the 1000 bed hospital and a former John Hopkins man.

Stopped Breathing

During the operation Anthony stopped breathing. Hastily the surgeons abandoned the operation and turned to the task of reviving their patient. And it wasn't until weeks later that the operation was resumed and completed. After that, it was just easy sailing—seven months of rest, first in the Fijis, then in California and in Texas. And, today, Anthony carries a 15 inch hockey-shaped scar, wears 10-square inches of skin from his right leg grafted onto his diaphragm and possesses an honorable medical discharge.

"I've got all the confidence in the world in those Army-medics now," he said. "And I have nothing but gratitude for the Red Cross. Blood plasma in almost continuous transfusions kept me alive for a long time."

Mrs. Harry Hull, wife of Lieut. Col. Hull is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoke, and resides in Emmitsburg with her infant daughter for the duration. Lieut. Col. Hull is a native of Frederick.

"The Group's squadrons have moved up from Morocco to the most advanced fields we held at the time, Youks-les-Bains in Algeria, and Thelepte just across the border in Tunisia. In the 47th, as in other units which were there, some men look back on the Tunisian campaign as a kind of excitement that will never be repeated. It was, they say, pretty rugged—they were living in holes in the ground, gassing their own aircraft from five gallon cans, eating pretty much the same meals every day, and in contact with the enemy at close range, both on the ground and aloft.

"Last winter their fields frequently were attacked by German bombers and fighters. In the German push on the Kasserine Pass in late February, Thelepte had to be evacuated. The 47th stayed with some fighter units in another advanced field to harass the enemy as much as possible. Targets in those early days were most often suggested by Maj. (now Lt. Col.) Philip G. Cochran, whose exploits have been dramatized and elaborated by the character Flip Corkin in Milt Caniff's comic strip, "Terry and the Pirates."

"Col. Cochran was operating his own P-40 unit but the A-20s gladly accepted his tips on the country and targets, which he knew well. The light bombers' first targets were enemy convoys, airfields gun positions and permanent installations. Their training had been for low-level bombing, but it soon became apparent that this would have to be changed to medium-level attacking, requiring bombardiers. Since bombardiers were not available, pilots, gunners and even intelligence officers acted in that capacity learning as they went along.

In the week the 47th attacked La Fauconnerie Airdrome repeatedly, and was credited with doing considerable damage to Axis fighter strength. For the last phase of the Tunisian campaign, the 47th moved to Souk-el-Arba, the field from which it did its greatest volume of work.

"With the windup of the Tunisian campaign, the group was averaging 96 sorties daily. After the Tunisian victory the 47th played its part in the aerial siege of Pantelleria and Lampedusa, supporting the 7th and 8th armies' landing in Sicily and then moved to Gorbini to operate from there in support of the 8th army. It was one of the first bombardment groups to establish itself on the Italian mainland.

"In the past two years the Group has flown more than 600 missions and 5,400 sorties, and has dropped over 6,000,000 pounds of bombs. Its men have received two Distinguished Service Crosses, two soldiers' Medals, 11 Distinguished Flying Crosses,

MOUNT GRAD TELLS WORK OF BOMBERS

Emmitsburg, Feb. 17.—The following letter from Jack Bubrick who is serving with the 47th Light Bomb Group somewhere in the Mediterranean sector will be of interest to the many friends of "Jack" who knew him while attending Mt. St. Mary's College. His letter follows:

"I have some spare minutes so will write to my friends in Emmitsburg. I am sending a bit of news about our group. We're all proud of it because we believe we're the best bomb group in the army. The group has been in the newsreels and in some magazines, but I doubt if many people have heard of our work. Their interest is usually in the Flying Fortress since they get in the news more often.

"We're usually chucked in some make-shift, out-of-the-way place, back woods fields immediately behind the front lines during an engagement, but it seems that some one has taken notice of the extensive work being done by the 47th group.

Story Of Founding Of Historic Emmitsburg, Maryland

By JAMES A. HELMAN

Tom's Creek Lutheran cemetery is the oldest burying ground in this locality. Prior to 1746, when the first patent was recorded, squatters had taken possession of plots of land, centering upon Tom's creek location as a central point. Hundreds of persons were buried along the stream. The entire acre with little exception is taken up by unmarked graves. As an evidence that this is the only burying ground of the time, none of the farms north, east or west of this area have grounds. The nearest burying grounds to the south is at the Close farm.

Among those buried in the Tom's Creek cemetery are George Smith, 1720-1793; Christian Smith, 1720-1790; Jacob Danner, 1768; Margaret Danner, 1762; Peter Troxell, 1719-1799; Mrs. Peter Troxell, 1737-1806; Maria Troxell, 1771-1794; Michael Row, 1762-1831; Mrs. Michael Row, 1763-1842; Jacob Troxell, 1763-1807; Captain Michael Sluss, 1785-1859; John Sluss, 1809-1890; Isaac Row, 1797-1841; Frederick Ohler, 1787-1869; Joseph Crabbs, 1786-1850; Barthol Waddle, 1787-1847; John Hockensmith, 1775-1855; Barbara, his wife, 1787-1842; William Hockensmith, 1813-1860; S. Oyster, 1792-1794; John Smith, 1782-1783; James Ohler, 1801-1873; Daniel Row, 1806-1851; George Row, 1755-1845; Anna May, his wife, 1758-1838; John Row, 1800-1873; Agnes Row, his wife, 1802-1880; George Ohler, 1788-1826; John Hoover, 1771-1832; Jesse Hoover; Sally Hockensmith, 1814-1894; Betsy Hockensmith, 1802-1874.

Zimmerman Cemetery

The following are in the Methodist cemetery: Solomon Krise, 1807-1887; Elizabeth Nickum, 1770-1853; Jacob Nickum; Abraham Stanbury, 1769-1855; William Biggs, 1797-1876; Amy Biggs, 1804-1848; John Fuss, 1835-1900; John Smith, 1764-1825; William Moser, 1811-1881; Frederick Crabbs, 1774-1851; David Crabbs, 1761-1827; Elizabeth Hoover, 1744-1833; David Morrison, 1802-1866; Prudence Morrison, his wife; Samuel Smith, 1802-1830; William Gilson, 1830-1893; Mrs. William Gilson, 1836-1875; Richard Gilson, 1795-1874; Mrs. R. Gilson, 1800-1894; Susan Harbaugh, 1782-1869; John Munshower and wife.

In the Zimmerman cemetery in Adams County, Pa., three miles north of town, were buried in the colonial days the dead of that locality; many graves are unmarked, from whom the sturdy stock of the present generation descended. Such as it required to build a nation—the Overholtzers, Elkers, Zimmermans, Bakers, Rhodes and Cochrans.

Indian Burial Place

The only Indian burial place accurately known in this locality is on the Gilson farm; about seventy-five years ago the ground was plowed over. This sacred spot to the red man yielded quite a quantity of skulls and bones. An eye witness who had gone to inspect the war relics and mayhap get a skull, found them in such condition that he procured a few teeth only.

Emmitsburg

Samuel Emmitt, after laying out the town August 12th, 1785, deeded to his son William, 53 acres of land as follows: Samuel Emmitt to his son William, part of Carrollsburg, where in the lots of a new town of Emmitsburg are laid out.

Excepting five lots, to wit: No. 1 to Samuel Emmitt's wife; No. 17 to son Josiah; No. 16 to daughter Mary; No. 4 to son Abraham James; No. 10 to grandchild William Porter.

The following lots were sold to persons named for a price of two pounds, ten shillings with a ground rent of seven shillings, six pence in gold:

Original Layout

No. 1, Mrs. Samuel Emmitt; 2, Michael Row; 3, Samuel Caldwell, York county, Pennsylvania; 4, Abraham James Emmitt; 5, Jacob Hockensmith; 6, Conrad Hockensmith; 7, Christian Smith; 8, Patrick Reid; 9, John Whitmore; 10, William Porter; 11, James Hughs; 12, Adam Hoffman; 13, John Rogers; 15, Charles Robinson; 16, Mary Emmitt; 17, Josiah Emmitt; 19, Samuel Carrick; 20, Margaret McDannel; 22, Michael Smith; 23, James Agnew; 24, Daniel Gorden; 26, Michael Hockensmith; 27, Richard Jennings; 28, James Hughs; 29, David Tanner; 30, James Larkins; 31, Jacob Tanner; 34, John Lock, alias Sluss; 36, Robert Wrench; 39, John McGorgan, the man who proposed calling the town Emmitsburg.

The original layout of the town was from lot No. 1, the lot where Quincy Shoemaker's shop stood in 1906; then west to the alley where C. T. Zacharias' house stands, then across to J. A. Helman, then east to John Hospelhorn's house. Samuel Emmitt then made a deed to his son, William, for 35 acres; he continued the extension from the west end to the east line of the land sold to William Shields in September 1787, when it is supposed Emmitt added his addition to connect with Shields and the eastern from the lot No. 1 to the eastern edge extant. All the land on both sides of the town was laid out in building lots from Flat Run to the run on south side, as the plot made by Andrew Smith in 1808 shows.

Lines Obliterated

These lots were in possession of such men as John Troxell, Lewis Weaver, Patrick Reid, Jacob Danner, John Armstrong, Frederick Gelwick, Tenry Fahnstock, Robert Flemming, Lewis Motter and others.

The lot lines were obliterated and the land was used for farming, continuing in that relation ever since.

An agreement between Samuel Emmitt, Henry Williams, John Troxell and Jacob Hockensmith, upon the line of Carrollsburg as surveyed by L. Bendie, county surveyor, November 3rd, 1891, contains some unusual statements including:

Interesting Comments

"One line runs near James Jan-nise's old cabin where the trees are marked with the Indian eyes and mouth, then through a bottom of Samuel Emmitt's, too long made use of by old Hockensmith and his son Jacob, on Middle creek.

"Samuel Caldwell may remember the nineteenth line of Carrollsburg, where he was almost knocked down by an axe that flew off its handle December 1st, 1785.

"Deed made by Lewis Motter to George Smith, March 27th, 1802, for brick house along Frederick road."

Addition to Emmitsburg

May 20th, 1786, Samuel Emmitt gave to his son William, 55 acres of land in addition and adjoining the land deeded August 12th, 1785, part of Carrollsburg tract, to extend the limits of the new town, now Emmitsburg.

Samuel Emmitt, the founder of Emmitsburg, nationality, Irish, took out a patent May 17, 1757 for 2,250 acres of land. He was not the earliest settler in this section, but he was a far-seeing man, and used his intelligence, knowing towns would be a nucleus for a community, he early sold off lots of land to incoming persons, and established a center here, in this beautiful valley, which has afforded so many returning descendants of the pioneers, as well as strangers pleasure to sniff the fresh, fragrant air that invigorates the spirit of the depressed.

"Beautiful Surroundings"

One good father in the Roman Catholic church when asked how he liked his new field of labor, he had been removed to Germantown, replied: "Heaven first, Emmitsburg next." We may seek other places and decry our own but no where on the earth will you find more beautiful surroundings. The landscape could not be improved. The health resorts are no better. The genial climate of the 39th degree, with the exception of an occasional blizzard, which all sections are heir too; neither heat nor cold become excessive, a happy medium reigns. We know it. Do we appreciate it? The mountains hard by are a protection. Many storms miss us, they are divided by these mountains; we see them as they flee away to the north or south.

"There is honor due Mr. Emmitt for his perception and selection of a truly lovely spot. Is it not the theme of the graduate as she pens her verses for the great day of her life, and deplores her departure from the shadow of Carrick's Knob? Do we not, with it in view from our infancy, stand and gaze upon it, not only when it is covered by leaves, but in its barrenness, and when the snow covers its peak, and we await the rising moon to increase its splendor. When we ascend its Indian lookout and gaze over the landscape, taking in the range of the mountain, then following the course of old Tom's creek in our vision we behold the grandeur of the valley as it lies beneath our feet, filled with the well-cared-for buildings and productive farms. Laid Out In 1785

This town was laid out in 1785. It was known as Poplar Fields prior to that date, when at a public meeting held at Hockensmith's Tavern (located on the farm now owned by Meade Fuss), John McGorgan was called to the chair. He proposed to change the name from Poplar Fields to Emmitsburg in honor of Samuel Emmitt, one of the largest land owners in the district. All persons threw up their hats, clapped their hands and hurrahed for Emmitsburg.

The company had quite a merry time, and having drank the health of the newly baptized town, they returned home full of sanguine expectation as to the rapid growth of the infant settlement. The population at that time consisted of seven families; Capt. Richard Jennings, merchant; Hoffman, hatter; John Rogers, tavern keeper; Michael Smith, blacksmith; Frederick Baird, carpenter; James and Joseph Hughs, merchant and architect.

MOUNT GRAD TELLS WORK OF BOMBERS

Emmitsburg, Feb. 17.—The following letter from Jack Bubrick who is serving with the 47th Light Bomber Group somewhere in the Mediterranean sector will be of interest to the many friends of "Jack" who knew him while attending Mt. St. Mary's College. His letter follows:

"I have some spare minutes so will write to my friends in Emmitsburg. I am sending a bit of news about our group. We're all proud of it because we believe we're the best bomb group in the army. The group has been in the newsreels and in some magazines, but I doubt if many people have heard of our work. Their interest is usually in the Flying Fortress since they get in the news more often.

"We're usually chucked in some make-shift, out-of-the-way place, back woods fields immediately behind the front lines during an engagement, but it seems that some one has taken notice of the extensive work being done by the 47th group.

"I am attaching an article from the 'Stars and Stripes,' as follows: 'The 47th Light Bombardment

sumed and completed. After that, it was just easy sailing—seven months of rest, first in the Fijis, then in California and in Texas. And, today, Anthony carries a 15 inch hockey-shaped scar, wears 10-square inches of skin from his right leg grafted onto his diaphragm and possesses an honorable medical discharge.

"I've got all the confidence in the world in those Army medics now," he said. "And I have nothing but gratitude for the Red Cross. Blood plasma in almost continuous transfusions kept me alive for a long time."

Mr. Harry Hull, wife of Lieut. Col. Hull is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoke, and resides in Emmitsburg with her infant daughter for the duration. Lieut. Col. Hull is a native of Frederick.

Group, whose A-20s played a memorable part in the fight at Kasserine Pass, yesterday celebrated the first anniversary of its first complete squadron mission and attack on Gabes Airdrome.

Heavy Action

"The Group's squadrons have moved up from Morocco to the most advanced fields we held at the time, Youks-les-Bains in Algeria, and Thelepte just across the border in Tunisia. In the 47th, as in other units which were there, some men look back on the Tunisian campaign as a kind of excitement that will never be repeated. It was, they say, pretty rugged—they were living in holes in the ground, gassing their own aircraft from five gallon cans, eating pretty much the same meals every day, and in contact with the enemy at close range, both on the ground and aloft.

"Last winter their fields frequently were attacked by German bombers and fighters. In the German push on the Kasserine Pass in late February, Thelepte had to be evacuated. The 47th stayed with some fighter units in another advanced field to harass the enemy as much as possible. Targets in those early days were most often suggested by Maj. (now Lt. Col.) Philip G. Cochran, whose exploits have been dramatized and elaborated by the character Flip Corkin in Milt Caniff's comic strip, 'Terry and the Pirates.'

"Col. Cochran was operating his own P-40 unit but the A-20s gladly accepted his tips on the country and targets, which he knew well. The light bombers' first targets were enemy convoys, airfields gun positions and permanent installations. Their training had been for low-level bombing, but it soon became apparent that this would have to be changed to medium-level attacking, requiring bombardiers. Since bombardiers were not available, pilots, gunners and even intelligence officers acted in that capacity learning as they went along.

"The 47th played its full part in the fight at Kasserine in February, bombing enemy tanks with considerable effect. In the next phase of the Tunisian campaign, the German retreat, the group accepted a wide variety of targets, one of the hottest in the memory of all concerned, being the enemy airdrome at La Fauconnerie in Tunisia, the first week in April. In the week the 47th attacked La Fauconnerie Airdrome repeatedly, and was credited with doing considerable damage to Axis fighter strength. For the last phase of the Tunisian campaign, the 47th moved to Souk-el-Arba, the field from which it did its greatest volume of work.

Many Decorations

"With the windup of the Tunisian campaign, the group was averaging 96 sorties daily. After the Tunisian victory the 47th played its part in the aerial siege of Pantelleria and Lampedusa, supporting the 7th and 8th armies' landing in Sicily and then moved to Gorbini to operate from there in support of the 8th army. It was one of the first bombardment groups to establish itself on the Italian mainland.

"In the past two years the Group has flown more than 600 missions and 5,400 sorties, and has dropped over 6,000,000 pounds of bombs. Its men have received two Distinguished Service Crosses, two soldiers' Medals, 11 Distinguished Flying Crosses,

Assails Roosevelt On Service Ballot

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt's demands for federal ballots for service men and women, says Rep. Harry L. Towse (R-N.J.), "constituted a brazen political move designed to convey the impression that Congress was attempting to rob service men of their right to vote."

Towse, reiterating his endorsement of the "state's rights" ballot plan said yesterday in a statement: "The president's accusation of fraud against members of congress for failure to support the federal plan was a deliberate attempt to confuse the public mind for political reasons and to portray himself as the sole champion of the right of service men to exercise their voting franchise."

"Let me say as emphatically as I can that I want every member of our armed forces to participate in the coming election, and I know of no member of congress who does not have that same desire."

LOSS OF LEG WILL NOT STOP VET'S SKATING

By FRANK ECK

St. Albans, N. Y. (AP)—Lieut. Francis (Bart) Gummere could ice skate with the best of them when he was a kid in Minneapolis. He played hockey with the kids in his neighborhood and made the high school team. But now he must learn all over again.

"I've still got one good leg and pretty soon they'll have me fixed like new again," says Bart. "I can't wait to get back to Wellesley Hills near Boston where I can see my wife and our two sons. I want to teach them to skate. It'll be my biggest thrill since the Sicilian landing."

And that's the way it is at the St. Albans (N. Y.) Naval Hospital regardless of the extent of the injuries sustained by those who are hospitalized on the site of this former golf course made famous by Babe Ruth's regular rounds whenever the Yankees were in town.

Spirit Still There
Lieut. Gummere is just one of the Navy men there but his spirit and courage is typical of the athletes who have been wounded in battle.

"I'm going to miss my tennis," says Bart, "but I'll be able to play golf very shortly. I'll be a bit slow at first but I never did like two-somes. And when I get on the ice I'm going to teach my boys—one's five, the other's three—to skate."

Bart took part in the invasion of Sicily last July 10. He says he was "clipped in the first 15 minutes." He was attached to the 7th Army's landing unit and his right leg was crushed when his barge capsized. Bart's leg was amputated recently.

Bart, now 33, was graduated from Haverford college in 1932. He captained the baseball and basketball teams.

After he receives his medical discharge he will return to his old position as a buyer of women's readyware for a Boston department store. "And I'm not even worried about the girdle shortage," says Bart.

CAPITAL GOODS SHIPMENTS FOR BRITISH TO END

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Virtual elimination of capital goods shipments to Britain under lend-lease is understood to have been agreed upon by British and American supply officials here. The decision is one of numerous adjustments being made to keep lend-lease exports closely geared to military needs.

For several months the quantity of machinery going to Britain has been decreasing steadily, largely because British plants now have about all they need except for occasional replacements.

The approaching climax of the war in Europe has brought a tightening up of the policy of limiting all lend-lease supplies to those needed primarily for war purposes. Lend-lease officials apparently are determined not to leave themselves open to congressional criticism that they have supplied other countries equipment having more use in the post war period than in the months remaining to victory.

To Commercial Channels
This is understood to be in keeping with a view President Roosevelt has expressed to some of his aides that there must be a clean break between expenditures under lend-lease and those designed to help other nations reconstruct their industries once the war is won. Beginning on the day of victory or as soon afterward as possible lend-lease shipments will stop and capital goods exports will be made on either a cash or credit basis.

Efforts already are being made to return exports to regular commercial channels where possible. One result is that textiles, drugs and chemicals for the Middle East are no longer handled by the lend-lease agency.

Similar returns to commercial operations are planned for other items and other regions as rapidly as war conditions permit.

Arrest Mother For Abandoning 4 Kids

Lebanon, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Louise Kelly, arrested by State Police at Indiantown Gap for New Jersey authorities, may leave today for Newark, N. J., to answer a charge of abandonment of her four children, ranging in age from 10 to 15 years.

Lebanon county Sheriff Charles Gingrich said the woman told him she would waive extradition when police detectives from Newark arrived here. She has been in the Lebanon county jail since Tuesday night.

In Newark, Police Lt. Thomas A. McHugh said Anita Kelly, 10, told him her mother left on a trip shortly after she received a letter from a friend at Indiantown Gap. Neighbors found the four children hungry and suffering from colds in an unheated flat Monday.

Eisenhower Set Guiding Principle

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as far back as last December, laid down the guiding principle which led to the bombing of the Benedictine monastery when he declared that it amounted to a question of whether historical buildings or the lives of Allied fighting men was of greater importance.

President Roosevelt disclosed at his press conference Tuesday that Eisenhower had issued an order Dec. 29 which directed his men to respect historical monuments "so far as war allows." But the order added:

"If we have to choose between destroying a famous building and sacrificing our men, then our men's lives count infinitely more and the buildings must go. x x x Nothing can stand against the argument of military necessity."

Guldens

Guldens—The weekly meeting of the Guldens Knitting club will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. George Dutera.

Fred Fidler, Silver Spring, Maryland, spent Sunday at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Katie Fidler. Sgt. George H. Dutera, Jr., Drew Field, Florida, is spending a furlough at his home here.

Mrs. Rice and her daughter, who had been visiting her mother in California, have returned to the home of Mrs. Kate Flinn, where she has been residing since her husband left for duty overseas.

Rodney Mackley, A-S, USMS, Sheepshead Bay Base, New York, and Lanier Mackley, Little, were guests at the home of Mrs. George Dutera on Sunday.

Eisenhower, as far back as last December, laid down the guiding principle which led to the bombing of the Benedictine monastery when he declared that it amounted to a question of whether historical buildings or the lives of Allied fighting men was of greater importance.

President Roosevelt disclosed at his press conference Tuesday that Eisenhower had issued an order Dec. 29 which directed his men to respect historical monuments "so far as war allows." But the order added:

"If we have to choose between destroying a famous building and sacrificing our men, then our men's lives count infinitely more and the buildings must go. x x x Nothing can stand against the argument of military necessity."

GET GUARANTEED BAKING WITH PILLSBURY'S BEST

You don't hover and hope around an oven, once you've switched to GUARANTEED BAKING. You're sure before you start. Try this recipe... yes, try any good recipe... using Pillsbury's Best Enriched Flour. If you don't judge that you get better baking than with any other all-purpose flour, Pillsbury's Cooking Service, Minneapolis, will give you back the cost of all your recipe ingredients. GUARANTEED BAKING! Isn't that doing right by your ration points?

It's easy... you bake, instead of steam it!

Pillsbury's BOSTON BAKED BREAD

Makes two 8x4x3-inch loaves. TIME: 45 to 50 minutes. TEMPERATURE: 350° F.

- 1 1/2 cups sifted PILLSBURY'S BEST Enriched Flour
- 2 1/2 teaspoons soda
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 cups PILLSBURY'S WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2 cups sour milk or buttermilk
- 3/4 cup molasses

1. Sift flour, soda, salt, and sugar. Add whole wheat flour; mix well. 2. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add raisins; mix well. 3. Add combined egg, milk, and molasses to dry ingredients; mix only until all flour is dampened. 4. Turn into 2 greased loaf pans; bake in moderate oven. Serve either hot or cold.

Adams county made the best showing among Pennsylvania counties, reporting 118 per cent of quota in all types of securities. Redmann said. Lackawanna reported 115 per cent; Lawrence, 104; Berks, 103; Lehigh, 102; Mifflin and Chester counties, 101.

Susquehanna was far ahead in E-bond sales, having sold 615 per cent of quota. Potter reported 122 per cent; Cumberland 119; Monroe, 96; and Montour, 92.

Try Father For Killing His Son

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—The defense called character witnesses today in the murder trial of Arthur Wasilashowski, alias Wasnick, accused of slapping his four-year-old son so hard on Christmas day that he died.

The father testified yesterday that he loved the child and searched many stores to find lights for his Christmas tree. The boy, Joseph, waited expectantly every night for his return from work and he regularly gave him a piece of cake or pie from his dinner pail, he said.

District Attorney Leon Schwartz, however, introduced as evidence a purported confession—saying—Wasilashowski, in a rage, slapped the child with his hands and knuckles because of unsanitary habits. Wasilashowski said that if he had signed any statement he had done so while his mind was in a haze.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 17 (AP)—John P. Conroy, Jr., president of the National Magnesium Corp., collapsed and died last night at the Pennsylvania railroad station while waiting to board a train to New York. He was 49. His home was at 87 South Munn avenue, East Orange, New Jersey.

Chapter 23
Somehow the hours went on. The morning mist deepened into a drizzling spring rain that pattered dully on their roof as they tried to sleep.

Kay had forced a sleeping tablet on Julie, but it did no good. Her tensed mind ran on in its useless circle of fear. At one o'clock she was pacing the living room restlessly when the phone rang. She raced for it.

It was Marek. "Thought you'd like the latest reports on the Atom fracas," he said cheerily. "Hope I didn't wake you?"

"On no—what is it?"
"All good. The tide turned early this morning—looks like it's mostly over except for a few possible skirmishes."

"You're an angel, Marek. Thank you."

"My secretary will give you reports fast as they come in today."

Kay was amazed and impressed by such thoughtfulness when she heard of it. "He's all right, that Marek," she told Julie. "If he's doing this to save wear and tear on his star, it's plenty wonderful. But if he's in love with you—which I think he is—and still doing it, then he's a man in a million."

By evening Kay and Julie knew every radio announcer's voice, by heart, had accumulated every paper on the stands, knew every published and unpublished fact on the battle.

Kay went in to dress for work. "You'd better catch up on your sleep, kiddo," she advised Julie.

But Julie appeared in the bedroom door unbuttoning the large rope buttons that decorated her red wool frock.

"I'm going to work," she said. Kay argued. "Don't be silly, honey. You're all in."

Julie's dark eyes lighted angrily. "Nonsense, I'm not at all. Besides, I couldn't sleep anyway."

"Okay," Kay whistled quietly as they slid into their overalls, socks and shirts. As she stopped to tie her brogues, she muttered, "What I don't get is why that lug pilot of yours can fight Japs so well, and yet not recognize another fighter when he sees one."

At ten the next morning Marek called again. Julie stumbled from her bed and caught up the phone.

"You got your release all right?" he asked.

For an instant, Julie's fatigued, drugged brain groped blindly for his meaning. Then she remembered with a guilty start. The release from Empire she had been waiting to ask for when she first read the Attu headlines! She hadn't thought of it since. Instead, she had gone on with her work like a crazed automaton.

"Marek—I'll have to tell you about that—!" Abruptly she realized he wasn't listening as she heard his voice giving crisp orders to someone in his office. When he spoke to her again, he had forgotten his own question. Taken her answer for granted.

"Could you run in this afternoon around three, dear?" he wanted to know. "Your contract's ready. Might as well get the business over before you start resting. All right?"

"All right," Julie murmured. She dropped the receiver thoughtfully on its cradle and went back to bed. It didn't seem worth while to force her explanation about the release on him now. She could tell him this afternoon and get the release tonight. She went back to bed and tried again to sleep.

It wasn't any use. She thought of Dave in a fighter plane like the one she saw yesterday, zooming for altitude to get shooting range, diving with guns blazing on his victim—or dodging into clouds for refuge.

She drifted into tortured dreams. Dave's ship melting under him as he flew. She could see the portion of the fuselage she had riveted pulling loose—the rivets easing from their holes like molten glue. She tried to hold the gaping section against the buffeting of an icy wind—to wake screaming!

Kay was shaking her. "You've been shouting. I'll fix it, Dave!" for the last five minutes. Kay told her humorously. "Will you either get it fixed or wake up?"

It was almost two by then so they got up. Julie took a warm shower to stop her shakes while Kay made her hot coffee and an omelet.

While Julie ate, Kay laid out her clothes... a sheer black frock with a single huge diamond clip, a wide hat, a fur.

"If you're going to be a movie star," she grinned at Julie. "you might as well look like one."

Julie laughed absently, hardly noticed the clothes she put on. The nightmare was hanging over her like a gloomy premonition. She felt lightheaded from tension and lack of sleep.

Not until her taxi drew up before the low, sprawling buildings of the studio did she give any thought to the significance of this appointment with Marek. When she came out again, she would be employed by this studio. She would be a motion picture star! Something she had never dreamed of a few months before! It was fabulous.

A strange elation lifted her as she went up the wide walk to the elaborate Spanish entrance. Her fright and her sorrow seemed all at once impersonal—faded into a luminous background. She was abruptly aware of the slim, exquisitely dressed creature the eyes of all she passed reflected. Eyes not merely admiring but interested—intrigued.

What was it, Marek had said? This emotional stress she was going through was the stuff of which glamour and actresses were made!

She nodded to the smiling gate-man and went through the gate into the wide corridor that led to Marek's office. Everything was suddenly unreal. This building—this new creature that was herself so eerily conscious of the hypnotic glamour of her own emotions.

As she stopped at Marek's door,

School Bands In Divisional Festival

Ellwood City, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—One hundred sixty-three young musicians, representing 26 secondary schools arrived here today to participate in the tenth annual band festival which will be held through Saturday under the sponsorship of the midwestern division of the Pennsylvania School Music association.

Climaxing the three-day event will be a band concert Saturday night which will have as its conductor Dr. Frank Simon, Cincinnati bandmaster, formerly a soloist with Sousa's band.

The young musicians will be honored at a banquet preceding the concert Saturday night.

Communities represented include: Allegheny, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Bessemer, Evans City, Farrell, Ford City, Freeport, Greenville, Grove City, Hickory township, Kittanning, Knox, Leechburg, Mercer, Midland, Monaca, New Brighton, New Castle, Rochester, Sharpsville, Sligo, Slippery Rock, Stoneboro, Wampum and Zellenople.

her thoughts raced on with soaring dispassion. "I shall probably be fired into a really great actress if Dave is killed!"

Kay was amazed and impressed by such thoughtfulness when she heard of it. "He's all right, that Marek," she told Julie. "If he's doing this to save wear and tear on his star, it's plenty wonderful. But if he's in love with you—which I think he is—and still doing it, then he's a man in a million."

By evening Kay and Julie knew every radio announcer's voice by heart, had accumulated every paper on the stands, knew every published and unpublished fact on the battle.

Kay went in to dress for work. "You'd better catch up on your sleep, kiddo," she advised Julie. But Julie appeared in the bedroom door unbuttoning the large rope buttons that decorated her red wool frock.

"I'm going to work," she said. Kay argued. "Don't be silly, honey. You're all in."

"Nonsense, I'm not at all. Besides, I couldn't sleep anyway."

"Okay," Kay whistled quietly as they slid into their overalls, socks and shirts. As she stopped to tie her brogues, she muttered, "What I don't get is why that lug pilot of yours can fight Japs so well, and yet not recognize another fighter when he sees one."

At ten the next morning Marek called again. Julie stumbled from her bed and caught up the phone.

"You got your release all right?" he asked.

For an instant, Julie's fatigue-drooped brain groped blindly for his meaning. Then she remembered with a guilty start. The release from Empire she had been waiting to ask for when she first read the Attu headlines! She hadn't thought of it since. Instead, she had gone on with her work like a crazed automaton.

"Marek—I'll have to tell you about that—" Abruptly she realized he wasn't listening as she heard his voice giving crisp orders to someone in his office. When he spoke to her again, he had forgotten his own question. Taken her answer for granted.

"Could you run in this afternoon around three, dear?" he wanted to know. "Your contract's ready. Might as well get the business over before you start resting. All right?"

"All right," Julie murmured. She dropped the receiver thoughtfully on its cradle and went back to bed. It didn't seem worth while to force her explanation about the release on him now. She could tell him this afternoon and get the release tonight. She went back to bed and tried again to sleep.

It wasn't any use. She thought of Dave in a fighter plane like the one she saw yesterday, zooming for altitude to get shooting range, diving with guns blazing on his victim—or dodging into clouds for refuge.

She drifted into tortured dreams. Dave's ship melting under him as he flew. She could see the portion of the fuselage she had riveted pulling loose—the rivets easing from their holes like molten glue. She tried to hold the gaping section against the buffeting of an icy wind—to wake screaming!

Kay was shaking her.

"You've been shouting. I'll fix it, Dave!" for the last five minutes. Kay told her humorously. "Will you either get it fixed or wake up?"

It was almost two by then so they got up. Julie took a warm shower to stop her shakes while Kay made her hot coffee and an omelet.

While Julie ate, Kay laid out her clothes . . . a sheer black frock with a single huge diamond clip, a wide hat, a fur.

"If you're going to be a movie star," she grinned at Julie, "you might as well look like one."

Julie laughed absently, hardly noticed the clothes she put on. The nightmare was hanging over her like a gloomy premonition. She felt light-headed from tension and lack of sleep.

Not until her taxi drew up before the low, sprawling buildings of the studio did she give any thought to the significance of this appointment with Marek. When she came out again, she would be employed by this studio. She would be a motion picture star! Something she had never dreamed of a few months before! It was fabulous.

A strange elation lifted her as she went up the wide walk to the elaborate Spanish entrance. Her fright and her sorrow seemed all at once impersonal—faded into a luminous background. She was abruptly aware of the slim, exquisitely dressed creature the eyes of all she passed reflected. Eyes not merely admiring but interested—intrigued.

What was it Marek had said? This emotional stress she was going through was the stuff of which glamour and actresses were made! She nodded to the smiling gate-man and went through the gate into the wide corridor that led to Marek's office. Everything was suddenly unreal. This building—this new creature that was herself so eerily conscious of the hypnotic glamour of her own emotions.

As she stopped at Marek's door,

School Bands In Divisional Festival

Ellwood City, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—One hundred sixty-three young musicians, representing 26 secondary schools arrived here today to participate in the tenth annual band festival which will be held through Saturday under the sponsorship of the Pennsylvania School Music association.

Climaxing the three-day event will be a band concert Saturday night which will have as its conductor Dr. Frank Simon, Cincinnati handmaster, formerly a soloist with Sousa's band.

The young musicians will be honored at a banquet preceding the concert Saturday night.

Communities represented include Aliquippa, Ambridge, Beaver Falls, Bessemer, Evans City, Farrell, Ford City, Freeport, Greenville, Grove City, Hickory township, Kittanning, Knox, Leechburg, Mercer, Midland, Monaca, New Brighton, New Castle, Rochester, Sharpsville, Silgo, Slippery Rock, Stoneboro, Wampum and Zelenopole.

her thoughts raced on with soaring dispassion. "I shall probably be fired into a really great actress if Dave is killed!"

FULL COLLAPSE OF NAZIS' EAST FRONT POSSIBLE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Associated Press War Analyst)

Observers in London, taking a rosy view of the amazing way the Red Army is ravaging the Hitlerian war front, are speculating on the possibility of the Russians completely clearing their territory of the invaders during the five remaining weeks of winter.

Well, that certainly is super-optimism, but it must be admitted that it's within the range of extreme possibility—if. The "if" would be a collapse of the Nazi front, either resulting in debacle or quick withdrawal to, say, the Brest-Litovsk-Carpathians line through Poland, which might be Hitler's last stand before falling back to the German frontier.

Will The Reds Keep On?

The whole Nazi front in the Ukraine is shivering like an autumn leaf, and the northern flank, in the Leningrad zone, is in jeopardy. Should Finland suddenly make peace terms with Russia, thereby uncovering the German wing on the Baltic, almost anything could happen. Red airmen again bombed Helsinki, the capital, last night—just as a reminder that there's no time like the present.

However, the purpose of this article isn't to dilate on this highly speculative contingency of wholesale German retreat, but to consider what happens when the Hitlerites do make their big withdrawal, as they surely must. Daily one hears the query:

Will the Russians keep on driving right into Germany, no matter whether the Anglo-American invasion has reached Hitler's western border? Supposing (and this is asked in sepulchral voice) the Red Army is first in the Reich?

Hope To Be On Hand

It would be interesting to know whence comes the odd notion that the Russians are bound to withhold the coup de grace from Hitler until the western Allies are on the ground.

or that the latter will hold their hands if they happen to be first in the field. The idea is absurd.

Of course the Red forces will continue to chase until the Nazis yell for mercy. Indeed, the Hitlerites will be lucky if they're able in some cases to holler loud enough to make themselves heard.

Human nature being what it is, it's likely that neither the Muscovites nor the Anglo-American pair would be happy to arrive at Berlin last. All the big three would like to be present at the barbecue to keep an eye on developments—political, for instance.

However, the war will go forward hell-bent, irrespective of these undercurrents of human nature.

Punishment Of Nazis

Presumably the Moscow and Tcheran conferences of the big three discussed all the possibilities which could sprout from war's end, and planned accordingly. The Moscow pact pledged unity in war and in peace, and the United Nations will have to place their trust in that.

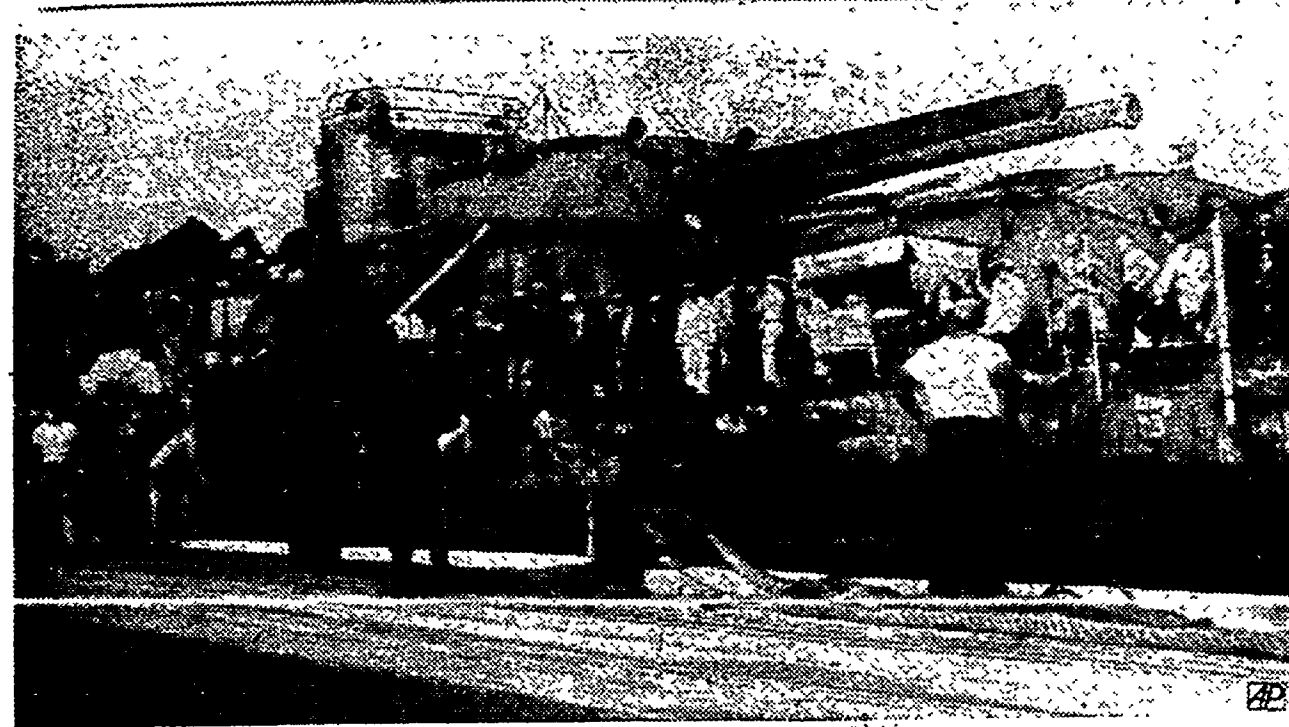

One of Russia's early interests surely will rest in the punishment of Nazis guilty of atrocities in Soviet territory, and there is a terrific black-list of names prepared. The Allies agreed on retribution and that it should be carried out in the territory where the crime was committed. Time will tell whether the Muscovites will seize all guilty Germans possible immediately, and rush them off to Russia to pay the penalty. It's difficult to imagine London or Washington weeping over such procedure.

We also know through a lecture by Professor Eugene Varga in Moscow that the Soviet intends to demand that several million enemy workmen be compelled to go to Russia to repair some of the awful damage wrought by the Germans. The Soviet doesn't want money; it wants sweat and brawn to do rebuilding. It's interesting to note in this connection that the Russians will have a host of German prisoners at the end of the conflict, and it seems possible that Moscow will ask the other Allies to agree that these men remain in the Soviet for work.

Butler, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—Six of the more than 900 soldier patients at Deshon General hospital sported new decorations today as a result of ceremonies which Pvt. Francis J. Sundo, 26, of Sharpsburg, Pa., described as leaving him "shakier than when I faced the Japs."

Sundo was given the Purple Heart yesterday for action in the New Georgia Islands, where he was wounded.

Pvt. Max E. McCarthy, of Chicago, received the Distinguished Service Cross for manning an anti-tank gun alone during the fighting in Sicily and destroying two of eight counter-attacking tanks before a gun destroyed his gun by a direct hit. Staff Sgt. Wilbur E. Morgan, of Hastings, Pa., was given two Oak Leaf Clusters in lieu of second and third Purple Hearts for service aboard a heavy bomber.

Defense Says Barber Was 'Out Of His Mind'

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—Defense counsel for Carmen Marmarosa, 38, East Liberty barber on trial for murder in the smoking-stand slaying of his wife last September, called upon other witnesses today to support their contention that he was "out of his mind" at the time she was slain.

Dr. C. C. Wholey, associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh, testified yesterday that he talked with Marmarosa in jail shortly after Mrs. Helen Marmarosa, 35, had been beaten to death and decided the barber was insane.

Earlier, Dr. Milton W. Golomb, Marmarosa's physician, testified he had examined the defendant in January, 1940. He said Marmarosa had been undergoing treatment "for years" and that his physical and mental health had "failed steadily."

20,000 DRAFT APPEAL CASES BEFORE BOARD

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—Twenty thousand draft appeal cases are awaiting processing at Pennsylvania Selective Service headquarters despite doubled appeal division staff to carry out a new regulation requiring action on occupational classifications by appeal boards in area where registrants are employed.

A headquarters spokesman last night said the state office has received appeals from every state in the Union as well as Hawaii and Puerto Rico of persons originally registered elsewhere but now employed in Pennsylvania. Similarly, Pennsylvania local boards are forwarding cases for action by appeal boards in other states.

Reporting that new appeals have arrived at the rate of 1,000 daily

since January, the spokesman explained six steps are necessary under the regulation, enacted by Congress last December, where formerly only two were required when local appeal boards acted on occupational deferments.

Hire More Clerks

"The volume of work on appeals has been so terrific that we have had to hire new clerks and transfer others from other divisions," said the spokesman. "It is reaching the point now, however, with a new production line set-up for handling them, where we are able to clear 3,000 appeals a day."

Cases already acted upon by appeal boards have been given the right-of-way, he added, because no draft registrant can be inducted until final action has been taken on an appeal.

Appeals from Pennsylvania draft boards involving persons employed in other parts of this state are being sent direct to the proper appeal boards but cases in which other states are involved must clear through state headquarters, where full records are kept of appeals when they come in also after they return.

U.S.S. Oklahoma In Drydock After Being Righted

Navy personnel crowd the deck of the U.S.S. Oklahoma after the battleship was righted and moved to a drydock in Pearl Harbor, T. H. for further repairs. The ship was capsized and sunk by the Japs during their sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941. (AP Wirephoto from U. S. Navy.)

Service Men In Hospital Decorated

Butler, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—Six of the more than 900 soldier patients at Deshon General hospital sported new decorations today as a result of ceremonies which Pvt. Francis J. Sundo, 26, of Sharpsburg, Pa., described as leaving him "shakier than when I faced the Japs."

Sundo was given the Purple Heart yesterday for action in the New Georgia islands, where he was wounded.

Pvt. Max E. McCarthy, of Chicago, received the Distinguished Service Cross for manning an anti-tank gun alone during the fighting in Sicily and destroying two of eight counter-attacking tanks before a gun destroyed his gun by a direct hit.

Staff Sgt. Wilbur E. Morgan, of Hastings, Pa., was given two Oak Leaf Clusters in lieu of second and third Purple Hearts for service aboard a heavy bomber.

KENNEDY RITES

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—Requiem high mass was held Wednesday at St. Francis of Assisi Catholic church by the Rev. John A. Maguire for Patrick A. Kennedy, Harrisburg attorney, who died of a heart attack Saturday night while acting as toastmaster at a dinner held by the Knights of Columbus.

TO ENDORSE COUPONS

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—All gasoline coupons issued by the 47 ration boards in the nine-county Pittsburgh district henceforth will be endorsed with the license number of the vehicle before issuance to the owner, A. J. Williams, district OPA director announced Wednesday.

KILLED ON SLED

Ursina, Pa., Feb. 17 (AP)—Five-year-old Walter L. Nicklow of this Somerset county community, was killed yesterday when his sled collided with a car on U. S. Route 53 in the first sledding fatality in this district this winter.

Defense Says Barber Was 'Out Of His Mind'

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—Defense counsel for Carmen Marmarosa, 38, East Liberty barber on trial for murder in the smoking-stand slaying of his wife last September, called upon other witnesses today to support their contention that he was "out of his mind" at the time she was slain.

Dr. C. C. Wholey, associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh, testified yesterday that he talked with Marmarosa in jail shortly after Mrs. Helen Marmarosa, 35, had been beaten to death and decided the barber was insane.

Earlier, Dr. Milton W. Golomb, Marmarosa's physician, testified he had examined the defendant in January, 1940. He said Marmarosa had been undergoing treatment "for years" and that his physical and mental health had "failed steadily."

20,000 DRAFT APPEAL CASES BEFORE BOARD

Harrisburg, Feb. 17 (AP)—Twenty thousand draft appeal cases are awaiting processing at Pennsylvania Selective Service headquarters despite doubled appeal division staff to carry out a new regulation requiring action on occupational classifications by appeal boards in area where registrants are employed.

A headquarters spokesman last night said the state office has received appeals from every state in the Union as well as Hawaii and Puerto Rico of persons originally registered elsewhere but now employed in Pennsylvania. Similarly, Pennsylvania local boards are forwarding cases for action by appeal boards in other states.

Reporting that new appeals have arrived at the rate of 1,000 daily

since January, the spokesman explained six steps are necessary under the regulation, enacted by Congress last December, where formerly only two were required when local appeal boards acted on occupational deferments.

Hire More Clerks

"The volume of work on appeals has been so terrific that we have had to hire new clerks and transfer others from other divisions," said the spokesman. "It is reaching the point now, however, with a new production line set-up for handling them, where we are able to clear 3,000 appeals a day."

Cases already acted upon by ap-

peal boards have been given the right-of-way, he added, because no draft registrant can be inducted until final action has been taken on an appeal.

Appeals from Pennsylvania draft boards involving persons employed in other parts of this state are being sent direct to the proper appeal boards but cases in which other states are involved must clear through state headquarters, where full records are kept of appeals when they come in also after they return.
